Senate Approval Of Hatch Bill Set for Monday

Opponents Resigned to Defeat; House May Pigeon-Hole It

SUPPORTERS SCORE TWO MORE VICTORIES

Win Support Twice in Vote on Important Amendment

Washington, March 15 (AP)—In a slam-bang debate, the Senate tonight voted close to the point of a final vote on the Hatch "anti-politics" bill but then recessed until Monday, when both sides predicted the measure would probably pass.

Senatorial opponents of the legislation—which would forbid political activity to state employees drawing any part of their pay from federal funds—were cheerfully resigned to the beating in store for them.

They believed that the House would pigeon-hole the measure because of a recently-inserted amendment which would prohibit any individual or corporation to contribute more than $5,000 to political campaigns in any one year.

Proponents Win Twice

During the day, supporters of the bill scored two significant victories. The Senate, by a vote of 47 to 30, voted explicit approval of the key section prohibiting political activities to the state employees involved. Then the chamber rejected, 52 to 31, a motion by Senator Lucas (D-Ind.) to send the bill back to the Privileges and Elections Committee for an overhauling.

The debate was as sharp as the Senate has seen in many a day. Both Lucas and Senator Minton (D-Ind.), a leader of the opposition, landed on the Republicans for taking little part in the debate, and Senator Adams (D-Colo.) interjected a quotation from the late Senator (Continued on Page Two)

Welles To Visit Pope on Monday

Fact-Finder and Pontiff To Discuss War Situation

Rome, March 14 (AP)—An unexpected audience with Pope Pius XII on Monday was arranged to-night for Sumner Welles as the United States fact-finder, homeward bound from a tour of European capitals, returned to Rome for final talks with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

Announcement that Welles would be received by the Pope was regarded as significant in diplomatic circles, especially since the Pontiff has talked with German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop since Welles's last visit here.

These observers speculated that possible peace moves might be discussed.

The American undersecretary of state is scheduled to see Count Ciano tomorrow noon and to confer later in the day with Il Duce. During the morning he will be received by King Vittorio Emanuele.

Diplomatic circles believed Premier Mussolini, as the result of his talks with von Ribbentrop last weekend, might convey to Welles some further message from Adolf Hitler in addition to re-stating his own views on the international situation.

Inventor Claims Bomb Will Kill All Living within 1,000 Ft. Area

By DALE CLARK

Baltimore, March 15 (AP)—Inventor Lester P. Barlow is ready to show the nation's highest military authorities a deadly aerial bomb which he says will kill every living thing within a 1,000 foot radius when it explodes, spreading death and destruction with detonating waves that no one in its path can escape.

In a small workshop in a wooded thicket a mile from the Glenn L. Martin Airplane Factory, the short, stocky inventor today described the death machine he wants to sell the government. The military and naval committees of the Senate and House and the secretary of war and navy will gather Monday in Washington to hear about it.

Russo-Finn Pact Approved by Diet By Vote of 145-3

Ryti Tells Members Making Peace Calls for Great Courage

Helsinki, March 15 (AP)—The Finnish Diet tonight put its formal seal on the Russo-Finnish peace treaty, approving its stringent terms by 145 votes to 3.

Told by Prime Minister Risto Ryti that "to make peace often calls for more courage x x x than the resort to war," the parliament deliberated for two and a half hours; then voted.

By the time this happened the heart-sick and dog-tired armies of Finland already had tramped four miles, pressing ahead of them a zig-zag, 226-mile front, leaving behind the rich industrial and farm areas which, henceforth, lie under the Soviet hammer and sickle.

The Supreme Soviet of the U. S. S. R., is to meet on March 29 to approve the treaty and, perhaps, to set up a new Soviet Socialist republic in the territories which Finland has ceded to Russia.

Explaining why Finland agreed to peace at Russia's price, Ryti told the Diet that the little republic was fighting alone except for "merely a few reinforced battalions, mostly from Sweden."

He said that the last-minute aid offered by Britain and France could not have reached Finland in time.

"By accepting this help," he explained further, "we would have been drawn into the world war, the duration of which is impossible to predict with certainty."

Ryti said also that after the outbreak of war, "when one party perhaps wishes for peace, the other party may be entirely against it. The influence of accidental factors, however, sometimes lead to the occurrence of moments during a war when both desire peace."

"When that happens such fleeting moments must be boldly seized upon if it is possible that they may not occur a second time."

It's called Glimite (the first three letters taken from the name of the Martin plant in whose bomb division Barlow is employed). It is a liquid oxygen-carbon explosive. And Barlow insists it is safe to handle. The formula is his secret.

"I can fly 20,000 feet over a battleship and put it out of commission with one of these bombs," he asserted. "I don't have to hit it. I know I can get within 500 feet of it. And when she goes off thirty feet above the surface I'll get the gunnery and controlling crews and put the ship out of commission. Another bomb set to go off thirty or forty feet beneath the surface would finish the job."

Finnish Troops on Way Out of Area Lost to Russia

Thousands of Civilians also Leaving War-Torn Section

By LYNN HEINZERLING

Helsinki, March 15 (AP)—The heart-sick and weary armies of Finland, pressing before them a hundred thousand civilian refugees, tramped four miles today along a zig-zag, 226-mile front—leaving behind them rich industrial and farm areas over which the red flag of Soviet Russia is destined to flutter.

The troops are withdrawing according to the schedule of the peace treaty with Russia, emptying great reaches of the country they fought for 105 days to defend, but now ceded to the enemy. The civilians are fleeing from homes which, under the peace treaty, will be in the Soviet Union.

As the combined military and civilian exodus began, foreign minister Vaino Tanner, in a broadcast to the United States, appealed for continued aid in the work of reconstruction which faces his nation.

Hard Task Ahead

Tanner expressed gratitude for the help and sympathy already extended by the American people, but declared that for Finland, her homes "blackened by almost daily air raids" and her manpower spent, a hard task lies ahead.

He estimated that homes must be found for 450,000 persons who once resided in areas now ceded to Russia, and reminded his hearers of the "tens of thousands" of men who were wounded in the war and for whom the government must now care.

Every available vehicle was pressed into service to aid today's civilian exodus, but many trudged weary miles on foot, struggling with bundles containing a few salvaged possessions as they endeavored to keep ahead of the steadily-moving troop columns.

The distance which the troops must retire, at the rate of about four miles a day, vary from a few days, march to a matter of 100 miles in the case of units stationed at the extreme eastern end of the Karelian isthmus.

The entire Karelian isthmus and the area northeast of Lake Ladoga must be cleared by March 26. Withdrawal from other ceded areas north of Lieska and in eastern Finland will begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

600,000 Must Resettle

About 600,000 persons in all will be resettled. About 150,000 of these, removed from crowded areas at the outbreak of the war, probably will be able to return to their former (Continued on Page Two)

AFL Asks Help in Boosting National Income 10 Billion

Seeks Cooperation of Labor, Business and Consumer Groups

Washington, March 15 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor suggested concerted action by business, labor and consumer groups today to boost the national income ten billion dollars in 1940 by expanding industrial production and creating 2,700,000 jobs for idle workers.

In its monthly survey of business, the federation said such an expansion might be brought about by an agreement of the three groups on a course of action.

"Such an agreement," the survey added, "would have to safeguard against price increases and establish measures to assure compliance."

No definite plan was suggested for bringing the groups together. The federation made clear, however, that it believed the program should be aimed chiefly at increasing the production and consumption of consumer goods.

It declared that ninety-three per cent of all families and single persons have a year income of less than $3,000, yet buy seventy-three per cent of all the consumer goods sold on the American market.

"Clearly then any effort to increase the national income must lay first emphasis on raising workers' buying power if it is to restore business health," it said.

In 1939, the federation said, the national income amounted to seventy billions dollars with 10,000,000 workers idle and industry turning out only fifty per cent of the goods and services it was capable of producing.

Governor of Georgia Arrested for Contempt

Rivers Taken into Custody on Stage of Theater at Macon

Macon, Ga., March 15 (AP)—Governor E. D. Rivers was arrested on a federal civil contempt citation tonight on the stage of the Macon auditorium where he was attending a meeting of the Georgia Education Association.

The arrest was made by U. S. Marshal E. B. Doyle, who took Rivers to the federal building. The contempt citation was issued recently by Federal Judge Bascom Deaver of the Middle Georgia circuit in a controversy involving Rivers' refusal to re-instate W. L. Miller, whom he ousted from the state highway chairmanship.

Deaver, in an injunction proceeding brought by Miller, followed the ruling of the state courts and ordered Miller put back in office. National guardsmen refused to let Miller in the state highway building under orders from the governor. Attorneys recently argued the case before Judge Deaver and the judge reserved his ruling until tonight.

The governor removed Miller December 2, charging the slim highway chairman, his former staunch supporter, with using his office to boost himself for the governorship. This Miller denied.

Many Suits Filed

In a welter of suits in the state courts, Miller was successful in maintaining his right to the office, but Rivers refused to accede to injunction orders of Superior Judge Will R. Smith and kept national guardsmen on the job. In the meantime, guards threw Miller bodily out of the highway building on two occasions, sending him to a hospital once.

Sergeant York and Jesse L. Lasky Dickering over a Movie Contract

Producer Wants to Star World War Hero in Picture

By HARRY P. SNYDER

Nashville, Tenn., March 15 (AP)—Alvin C. York, the World War hero, and Jesse L. Lasky, the movie producer, dickered today over a contract to permit Lasky to produce a pictorial story of the life of the Tennessee mountaineer.

A signature on a contract didn't materialize from the negotiations in which the Hollywood folk felt the sharpness of York's experience as a live stock trader in the mountain country.

Lasky wants to produce a film-story titled, "The Life of Sergeant York," to be written by Gene Fowler with York's assistance and approval.

Lasky Flashes Contract With his attorney, the dapper Walter L. Brumington, Lasky opened the conference by brandishing a typical Hollywood contract which, to York, appeared as a mountain thicket of non-understandable clauses.

"That's not for me," drawled York, and handed it to his attorney (Continued on Page Two)

Colorado Defeats Duquesne 51-40; Wins Tournament

Overpowers Iron Dukes in Sensational Game in New York

New York, March 15 (AP)—Colorado's University's thundering herd made good on its second attempt to win the Metropolitan Invitational basketball tournament championship tonight, outscoring the Iron Dukes of Duquesne 51 to 40 in a sensational final game.

Oklahoma A. and M. edged out De Paul 23-22 to take third place. A crowd of 15,201 saw Colorado win the title it missed two years ago, by taking complete command midway in the second half, when the Dukes lost their amazing eyes and couldn't hit from out front.

After Duquesne had tied the score for the fourth time during the game at 29 all, the Mountaineers came back strong and poured in sixteen points while holding the Dukes to a bare four.

The Buffs' brightest star was Bob Doll who kept the Duke machine rolling by continually coming up with the ball after shots at both baskets—and he was accorded the vote as the tourney's most valuable player by a board of Metropolitan coaches.

He led the Colorado offensive with fifteen points, one more than his other blond teammate, jumping Jack Harvey. Heroes of the Dukes were the (Continued on Page Two)

Britain To Make Bold Bid To Win Aid from Balkans

Will Seek To Thwart Possible Extension of European War

By DREW MIDDLETON

London, March 15 (AP)—British legislators today mapped a bid for a bold diplomatic policy in the Balkans and the near east, backed by British and French military might, as a measure to thwart possible extension of war.

Informed sources disclosed that a number of members of Parliament planned to demand such a vigorous policy when Prime Minister Chamberlain makes his next statement on the progress of the war before the lower house on Tuesday.

Need More Urgent

These members, it was said, will contend that the need for such a policy has become more urgent with the end of the Russian-Finnish conflict and the fear in some quarters of a possible Russian or Russian-German drive into Rumania.

In contrast, an unofficial but well-qualified source in Berlin said on Thursday that Germany had obtained a definite pledge from Russia to spare Rumania, come what may in southeastern Europe. The pledge, it was said, might enable German diplomats to steer Rumania away from the Allies and into a non-aggression pact with the Soviet Union.

The war meanwhile moved in low gear with the main announced development the destruction of the German passenger liner La Coruna, 7,414 tons, when she was intercepted Wednesday "in northern waters."

The crew opened the vessel's sea cocks and set her on fire and the British warship that had caught her finished the job with gunfire after picking up sixty crew members. The La Coruna left Rio de Janeiro Feb. 3 in an effort to slip through the British blockade with coffee, lard and other supplies.

Members of parliament were represented as wanting a forceful answer to what one described as a "coming totalitarian offensive" in the east.

British Stakes High

Britain's stakes there are high since any German or Russian thrust in the East would approach Britain's near eastern sphere of influence along a strategic empire lifeline.

Continental reports of a possible Russian-Rumanian non-aggression pact were taken as an ill omen for the Allies.

Neither the Rumanian embassy nor the British foreign office had received anything to substantiate the reports, it was said, and British (Continued on Page Two)

Britain Explains Restrictions on American Imports

Regulations Will End at Conclusion of War, Lothian Says

Washington, March 15 (AP)—Great Britain told American business today that her restrictions on imports of American products were in no way intended to divert British purchasing to other markets permanently.

The British ambassador, Lord Lothian, issued a formal statement that Britain's control of imports was a result of the war, meaning that it would end after the war.

(There has been considerable apprehension in this country that the control measures might permanently injure American producers. For example, Britain has virtually ceased buying American tobacco. It is feared that British smokers will become habituated to Turkish tobacco and will go on buying it after the war.)

Secretary of State Hull expressed satisfaction that discussions were continuing with Allied experts to safeguard American commercial interests. He said one of the points under discussion was a plan whereby Britain would purchase some American tobacco to mix with other tobacco so that the taste of the British smokers would not be permanently changed to other brands. Hull also pointed out that although British buying of some American products has greatly declined, total American exports to Britain have increased considerably since the war began, and sales to France have more than doubled.

The British ambassador's statement was occasioned by the receipt of cables from London that canned and bottled fruits have been added to the list of goods for which import licenses are required.

Allied Purchases Of Planes in U. S. Given a Setback

Congressional Inquiry Creates an Unfavorable Atmosphere

By DEVON FRANCIS

New York, March 15 (AP)—American manufacturers who have been dickering with French and British purchasing missions for the sale of a billion dollars worth of warplanes suspended their talks today.

It was understood that the negotiations, at least for late-model planes which the Allies have hoped to obtain, would not be resumed unless next week's congressional inquiry into the same of aircraft abroad is held in a "favorable" atmosphere.

Representatives of at least eight plane and engine makers, who remained uncommunicative, left the city after less than five days of conversations. Manufacturers with local offices declined comment.

Peace Move Awaited

The sudden suspension may also have been connected with the possibility of a general European peace move in the wake of the termination of the Russo-Finnish war.

In any case, before the talks closed steel and aircraft shares, which had been soft in the stock market during the morning, broke more than two points in some instances by noon.

It was reported reliably that the manufacturers' portfolios were still open to re-orders on equipment already released for export.

The French and British have been interested, however, more in the purchase of the newer type of warplanes.

In Washington, where both Senate and House sub-committees are scheduled to launch inquiries into aircraft sales, the House military aviation sub-committee formally asked four war department representatives (Continued on Page Two)

WPA Project Forces To Be Reduced 228,000 for the Month of April

Washington, March 15 (AP)—The WPA announced tonight that the quota of project workers would be reduced 228,000 in April.

Colonel P. C. Harrington, commissioner of work projects said the authorized employment for April would be 2,120,000 compared with 2,348,000 authorized for this month. Actual employment as of March 6 was 2,323,000.

Harrington's announcement was looked upon as a step toward the eventual reduction of WPA rolls to about 1,500,000 by the end of the fiscal year on June 30. By such a reduction, WPA officials said, the agency could operate within the $1,477,000,000 appropriation which Congress supplied for the current fiscal year.

Promises of Long Term Guarantees by Russia and Hungary Are Declared Intolerable

By ROBERT ST. JOHN

Bucharest, Rumania, March 16.—(Saturday)—(AP)—High Rumanian government sources declared today that the conditions of a German "security" offer to Rumania, involving proffered long-term guarantees from Russia and Hungary, were "intolerable and impossible of acceptance."

King Carol, close associates said, was particularly indignant over a reported German suggestion that he take a pro-Nazi Iron-Guardist into his cabinet as a condition for such "security."

Other Nazi overtures in the economic field, cited also by Germany as conditions for hands-off pledges by Russia and Hungary, likewise encountered stiff opposition here.

The king's advisers were represented as feeling that any Rumanian attempt to meet German demands for a monopoly on Rumanian exports as the price of a guarantee would wreck the country economically almost as much as war itself.

Against Demobilization

Still another Nazi proposal—Rumanian demobilization—was opposed by military quarters as likely to put this country completely at the mercy of foreign powers, no matter what guarantees were made on paper.

Authoritative sources said the plan was doomed to flat rejection unless Germany showed a disposition to modify it greatly. As things stand, Rumania has an Allied pledge of assistance against aggression, made prior to the war.

As for the iron guardist matter—fugitive leaders of this organization who are in Germany are still barred (Continued on Page Two)

Daladier Given Confidence Vote

His War Policies Are Approved in Chamber, 240 to 0

Paris, March 15 (AP)—With French war cabinet changes reported in the offing, Premier Daladier emerged tonight from a two-day secret Senate quiz on his war policies backed by a clean vote of confidence, 240 to 0, that he would wage war against Germany with "increasing energy."

The session, which began amidst widespread calls for "action" on the western front, ended with renewed hints that Daladier would make some changes in his war cabinet by Easter. There were a number of abstentions from the vote against the 310 members of the Senate.

Parliamentary sources voiced belief that the Allied generalissimo, Maurice Gustave Gamelin, would take over the war portfolio now held by Daladier, leaving a battle-scarred veteran of many wars, General Alphonse Georges, 64, in command of the Allied land forces.

There has been criticism of Daladier because he holds too many jobs—premier, minister of war, national defense and foreign affairs.

Daladier had to defend his policies before the Senate against criticism made sharper by the failure of the Allies to act in time to aid Finland.

In announcing the cut for April, Harrington advised state administrators that it could be accomplished by:

Paring employment on projects on which such reductions would not "seriously affect efficient operation." Discontinuance of least desirable projects now in operation at the completion of work on useful units. Discontinuance of projects "on which federal man-month non-labor costs are unusually high due to insufficient financial participation of sponsor" and on other projects in which the sponsor participation is "unreasonably low." Discontinuance of projects on which extensive transportation costs are paid from federal funds to get workers to and from their jobs.

R. H. Macy and Co. Involved in Case Of Coster-Musica

Acted as Middleman between Swindler and Bootleggers

New York, March 15 (AP)—The firm of R. H. Macy and Company, New York's biggest department store, was described in federal court today by George Dietrich-Musica as a "cover house" through which the late arch-swindler, P. Donald Coster-Musica, sold alcohol to bootleggers in the form of Eau de Quinine.

Dietrich-Musica testified as a government witness in the mail fraud trial of five men accused of guilty knowledge of the astonishing bootlegging operation through which Coster-Musica embezzled the $87,000,000 McKesson and Robbins Drug Corporation with about $20,000,000 in fictitious assets.

His picture of the vast Macy store as a sort of middleman between Coster-Musica and various bootleggers of the pre-repeal era did not involve McKesson and Robbins but went back to Girard and Company, a concern acquired by Coster-Musica when he was on the way up to eventual control of the far-flung McKesson organization and shuffling in the meantime, his real identity as ex-convict Philip Musica.

"Did Macy's actually buy the Eau de Quinine?" asked George Z. Medalle, defense counsel.

"Yes, they did," said Dietrich-Musica. "Macy would pay Girard and Company, and the bootleggers would pay Macy."

"You mean," counsel pursued, "that Coster used to put Macy on the books when he really wasn't selling to Macy?"

"Macy only gave the order; they never got the goods, nor never saw the goods," the witness responded.

"There would be 300 barrels (in an order)—you have got an item of 300 barrels of quinine (which) would be billed to Macy's, but somebody else would take the merchandise."

Dietrich-Musica, a brother of Coster-Musica—who shot himself to death in his Connecticut mansion in 1938 amid the wave of scandal that his exposure had caused—declared that any auditor should have known that Macy's itself couldn't have taken actual delivery of 300 barrels.

Say Auditor "Would Know?" "Any auditor," he added, "would know that we were making more than we were making than could be used by the whole world."

At one point he agreed with Medalle that a "good bootlegger" of an era now gone could "boil off" Eau de Quinine and Lilac Vegetal "and sell it for some kind of Scotch."

In connection with Dietrich-Musica's testimony, Deloc Walker, Macy's general manager, issued this statement:

"Such testimony sounds too ridiculous to receive serious acceptance. However, we shall be glad indeed to lend every facility to the federal district attorney for the exploration of Musica's testimony."

The five on trial include two former McKesson directors—Horace B. Merwin, a Bridgeport (Conn.) banker, and Rowley W. Phillips, a Waterbury (Conn.) investment broker. The other defendants are John H. McGloin, former McKesson controller, and John O. and Leonard Jenkins, Coster-Musica's brothers-in-law.

Argentina and Japan Trade Agreement Is Severe Blow to U. S.

Buenos Aires, March 15 (AP)—Japan and Argentina tonight effected a commercial agreement which struck a severe blow at United States hopes of re-entering the rich Argentine market on a scale large enough to supplant European nations.

An exchange of notes opened the way for the entry of Japanese textiles and manufactured products into the Argentine market. The agreement covered by the notes provided for Japan to purchase 30,000,000 yen (about $4,500,000) in Argentine raw materials in 1940—three times the total of 1939.

In return, Argentina agreed to regulate the granting of import permits in order to admit Japanese cotton textiles, chemicals, heavy industrial machinery and other manufactured goods.

Trade experts said the treaty would in effect leave the United States as the only important nation which does not enjoy partial or complete favored nation treatment with Argentina.

Japan began a drive to increase her South American business months ago when it appeared that her commercial agreement with the United States was lapsing.

Officials pronounced the passenger a suicide.

Rumania

from their homeland, despite current amnesty offers to repentant Iron Guardists imprisoned in Rumania.

Carol was represented as fearing strongly that presence in his cabinet of an avowed protector of Nazi interests would be nothing more than the beginning of the end of Rumania as an independent state.

Change Vital to Germany

Germany was reported to have emphasized that such a cabinet change was vital to the general plan of security Adolf Hitler has suggested.

(Germany is deeply interested in keeping Rumania out of war over her World-war won territory in order that Rumania may give Germany the oil, food and other things Germany needs to fight the Allies. Pro-Nazi influence within King Carol's cabinet, naturally, would make this economic help all the easier.)

Even before the assassination last September of Premier Armand Calinescu the Iron Guard had been outlawed. Hundreds of its members died in a blood purge which King Carol ordered to atone for the premier's death.

Today, however, a delegation of Iron Guardists imprisoned in 1938 took advantage of royal clemency, pledged allegiance to King Carol and joined the National Rebirth party, only legal political party in Rumania.

Reliable informants gave the word that a Rumanian military delegation now in Berlin has been told that Russia could be prevailed upon to sign a 25-year non-aggression pact with Rumania and that Hungary would agree that for ten years she would not press Rumania for territorial revision.

Provisions of the Nazi plan to have Russia and Hungary guarantee Rumania's frontiers were reported by usually trustworthy sources to be these:

Provisions of Nazi Plan

1. Rumania would promise to demobilize immediately the majority of her 1,600,000 soldiers, who would return to work in her fields and factories. (This would help Germany get Rumanian supplies moving.)
2. Under the guidance of German experts, Rumania would accelerate her industry and agriculture.
3. Germany would get a virtually complete monopoly on Rumanian exports of oil, cereals and other supplies, Rumania retaining only six per cent of these over the average domestic consumption annually for the past five years.
4. The admission of one member of the pro-Nazi Iron Guard to the cabinet in order to "safeguard German interests."

Rumania's value as an oil reservoir and a grain bin for the war-blockaded Reich was said here to be so great that the Nazis are playing all their diplomatic cards in an effort to secure a monopoly and freeze out the Allies.

homes, but government officials said at least 70,000 new homes would have to be constructed.

Prof. Ilviri Leiviska, of Helsinki university's geography department, the best larch forests in Europe are situated on the isthmus which is now Russian, together with rich agricultural regions near Viipuri and along the shores of Lake Ladoga.

However, the heaviest loss will be industrial, Leiviska explained. Large numbers of sawmills, woodpulp and paper mills are located in the ceded regions around Suojarvi, Viipuri, Sortavala and Kakisalmi.

But this, he added, need not be "mortal."

One great blow to Finnish economy will be the cessation of the lower part of the internal water transportation system, which is of the greatest importance to the nation's industry. Gone also is the great export harbor of Viipuri, second to Kotka in the export of cellulose.

Helsinki itself is returning slowly to normal routine. Wartime restrictions on lighting have been lifted, except for advertising signs. Street cars resumed regular schedules today.

Russians Sustain Losses in Clash With Jap Patrol

Toyohara, Karafuto Island, Japan, March 16 (Saturday) (AP)—Soviet troops were reported to have sustained more than a dozen casualties today in a clash between Russian and Japanese border patrols near the Saghalien-Karafuto boundary.

Two Japanese were reported wounded.

The Japanese said the Soviet patrol opened fire without warning when the two patrols met.

(The island of Karafuto (or Saghalien) was occupied by Japanese forces during the Russian-Japanese war in August, 1905, and the acquisition by Japan of that part of the island south of the fiftieth parallel was confirmed by the treaty of Portsmouth, concluded between Japan and Russia in October of the same year.)

McCormick Jury Again Locked Up He Plays Checkers While Awaiting Verdict in Murder Case

Cleveland, March 15 (AP)—Failing to reach a verdict after more than twenty hours' deliberation, a jury which tried John L. McCormick for first degree murder was locked up for a second night at 10-45 p. m.

While the jury deliberated the youth's penalty for the holdup slaying of a special policeman, McCormick calmly played checkers in the jail hospital ward.

Judge Michael Kilbane said the Pittsburgh University student was put in these quarters because he is "a sensitive prisoner" and "he would go crazy in a cell with hard boiled guys."

Principal questions before the jury of nine women and three men included sanity of the twenty-one year old youth, whose moderately wealthy parents deserted him in an argument in their fourteen-room home after indulging him with expensive automobiles and spending money.

work. Unlike fragmentation bombs which spew shrapnel and damage only what they hit, the aerial mines blast the air the same way that depth bombs create a crushing underwater force, Barlow said.

Wants To Prove Claims

Such bombs exploded in the air over a battlefield would result in instantaneous, wholesale slaughter. Barlow wants the government to test his bombs with goats, tethered fifty feet apart over a wide area.

The Washington Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals opposed that suggestion today. Such a test could be made only in a large uninhabited area. Barlow thinks western Texas or Florida could be used.

The explosive has a constant fahrenheit temperature of 297 degrees below zero. Contrary to claims of critics, the inventor says it cannot be exploded by fire, shock or impact, that only a high-powered detonator can set it off.

Backers of a strong diplomatic front in the Balkans said such a policy also would be taken as a reassurance to Turkey that the Allies meant to fight any German or Russian moves there.

Recalling the days of President Harding and the "Ohio gang," Minton said the Republicans were not worried about "pure politics" then.

Republicans To "Hatch" Eggs "The Republicans have been sitting over there for two weeks expecting us to lay an egg, and then they'll hatch it," he said. "Nobody on that side of the aisle ever got worried about purity in elections."

"We ought to call a halt. We ought to stand up here and meet the onslaught of the solid phalanx of Republicans. Why, the exhibition of the trained fleas over there hasn't been equalled in Washington in 150 years."

In the end, Minton gave the tip-off that the long opposition fight, which has been repeatedly denounced as a filibuster, was to be ended. He said he was ready for a vote, and prepared to walk "the last long mile."

As the debate carried the Senate along into a night session, Senator George (D-Ga.) arose to praise the measure. One of the targets of President Roosevelt's purge campaign of 1933, George asserted that when a party builds up an enormous political power in the federal government, it then becomes that party's obligation to see that such power is not misused. Noting that President Roosevelt entered his state during the 1933 primary campaign and sought his defeat, George added:

"But that doesn't matter. The people of my state answered that." Senator Brown (D-Mich.) criticized George's viewpoint, saying that because the latter had had an "unfortunate experience" he assumed that political power would inevitably be abused.

Hatch Amendment Wins Senator Hatch (D-NM), author of the bill, obtained Senate approval of an amendment intended to meet criticism that the legislation was unconstitutional because it delegated too extensive powers to the Civil Service Commission. As originally drawn, the measure empowered the commission to define the terms "pernicious political activity," as a part of its general duty of administering the act.

Hatch's amendment was intended to make the commission's present rules on political activity, as they now effect government employees of civil service status, apply in the administration of the pending legislation.

The votes taken on approving the central section of the bill and rejecting Lucas' recommission motion revealed the same division of sentiment that has characterized previous Hatch act tests—Republicans voting solidly in support of the bill, and the Democrats sharply divided, with most southern senators voting in the opposition.

representatives to testify next Wednesday.

They were Secretary of War Woodring, Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson, General George C. Marshall, the army chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the air corps.

Will Be Asked to Explain They will be called upon to explain the administration's policy regarding the release of aircraft and other military equipment for sale abroad.

Chairman Harter (D-Ohio) said the committee was interested chiefly in determining whether foreign nations were being given the benefit of American military inventions, particularly those developed with taxpayers' money, and whether foreign purchases were interfering with United States defense plans.

Technically the New York negotiations were broken off only as they related to contracts for planes such as the "bell aircraft," described by the manufacturers as a 400-mile-an-hour pursuit. It is not released for export.

Actually they were expected to apply to all types of military aircraft because the purchasing missions are not interested in machines which, by the time of delivery, might prove to be obsolete.

Oakland To Sell $25,000 of Bonds For New Building

Bond Issue Was Ratified by Voters at Special Election

Oakland, March 15.—The town of Oakland is now advertising for sealed bids for the sale of $25,000 in community building bonds. The bonds pay three and one-half per cent interest. Bids are to be received until 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 27.

The bonds were issued under the acts of the general assembly in January, 1939, and ratified February 10 by the people of Oakland at a special election. The bonds are exempt from all state, county and municipal taxation.

Services To Close

Union Lenten services, participated in by the Protestant churches of Oakland, will come to a close next week with special evening services Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday evening each church will have a special Maundy Thursday service of its own.

Good Friday the Lutherans and Methodists have arranged to join in a three-hour passion service at St. Mark's Lutheran church, from 12 o'clock noon until 3 o'clock. The congregation of St. Matthew's Episcopal church and members of the Catholic church will worship at a similar three-hour passion service at the same time.

Monday, March 18, the Rev. David C. Trimble will preach in the Lutheran church at 7:45 o'clock. Tuesday, March 19, the Rev. Minor Sprague will preach in the Episcopal church, and Wednesday evening the Rev. A. B. Leamer will preach in the Methodist church.

Lawton Transferred

Lewis Lawton, U. S. Navy, until recently on board the U.S.S. Charleston, has been transferred from his ship to the Naval Training station at Norfolk, Va., where he will remain for three years. Lawton was recently appointed bandmaster of the ship, having remained active in music ever since he left Oakland.

He is now at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lawton, for a stay of thirty days.

Film Available

The Cumberland field office of the Social Security board has obtained a sound film giving some highlights of the Social Security Act. The picture has been scheduled to be shown in a number of meetings, most of them in Allegheny county. It will be shown Friday, March 22, at 6:15 before the Oakland Rotary club; and at 8 p. m. the same evening, before a meeting of the Woodmen of the World, in Oakland.

Stahl Is Honored

Stanley Stahl, Jr., freshman at Frostburg State Teachers college, was one of those winning distinction of being on the honor roll of the college for the first semester of the year. As a result he was chosen a member of the new organization, The Future Teachers of America Association. He is also one of the council members of the freshman class.

Makes High Grade

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Giotflety have received a letter from H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, informing them that their daughter, Mary Lyle, during the last semester, was among 117 students of the more than 3,000 registered who attained the distinction of an average above 3.50. This was considered quite an honor at the school. Miss Giotflety had six "A's" and two "B's" on her report.

Brief Mention

Forrest Warnick has purchased the Welch property at the Eastern edge of Oakland, near the Weber crossroads, and will occupy it with his family in the near future.

Paul Turney has returned from Cumberland where he went Monday and entered Allegheny hospital for an operation for a sinus infection.

New York Police Battle Spanish Mob on 5th Ave.

Break Up Demonstration in Front of the French Consulate

New York, March 15 (AP)—Before hundreds of non-combatant pedestrians on Fifth avenue, police subdued today a band of about thirty-five men and women who had sought to demonstrate in front of the French consulate.

The pickets were protesting what they described as a French government decree requiring Spanish refugees to leave France unless they had relatives in the French army or were themselves willing to enter war service.

The French embassy denied that there had been any decision to abolish the Spanish refugee centers, and a statement issued here added:

"The French government never contemplated such a measure. . . no Spanish individual or groups of individuals have ever been sent back to Spain against their will."

At all events, thirteen of the demonstrators—twelve men and a woman—were arrested and then freed, upon arraignment, by Magistrate Alfred Lindau, who found that the case against them was too "limited in scope."

The melee—during which men and women were spent sprawling, some pedestrians were struck with the staffs of banners carried by the pickets, and the avenue's traffic was piled up—began after a police inspector had announced that Mayor LaGuardia had directed that picketing of consulates of belligerent nations not be permitted.

Seven Lives Lost In Fire in N. C. Many Others Rescued from Charlotte Apartment Building

Charlotte, N. C., March 15 (AP)—A swiftly-spreading fire in a downtown apartment house brought death to seven persons early today. Seven others were so badly hurt they required hospital treatment.

Densons of other occupants of the apartment, the Guthrie, situated on North Tryon street just a block from the business district, escaped by fleeing in their night clothing into damp, sub-freezing weather.

Smoke and flames enveloped the Tryon street section of the block-long brick building when firemen arrived shortly after 1 a. m., to find that many of its residents had already been injured, and some killed, by jumping from the second and third floors.

Firemen, assisted by city and county policemen, hastily put up ladders, all the time warning men and women in the windows not to leap, and began bringing occupants to the ground.

Fireman W. P. Pittman was injured when a woman jumped from a third-story window and fell upon his back as he was carrying two other women down a ladder.

Governor

General John E. Stoddard and his Lieut. Col. J. H. Skelton to jail terms. The governor promptly pardoned them.

Miller then took his case into the federal court, and Judge Deaver on Jan. 27 ordered Rivers and Stoddard to show cause why they should not obey the state superior court injunction against the military lockout of Miller.

The petition before Judge Deaver asked that the governor and Stoddard be punished for failing to obey federal court orders to stop interfering with Miller.

On February 19, Judge Deaver ordered the governor to cease using national guardsmen to negate state court orders. He held Rivers was violating Miller's constitutional rights by barring him from the highway chairmanship.

Governor Rivers showed no disposition to obey this edict, making the cur rejoiner: "I do not propose to abdicate as the Governor of Georgia."

On February 23, Miller, armed with Judge Deaver's order against interference with him, was barred from the highway building by unarmed national guardsmen. He again was barred on February 29.

This development brought from the federal judge an order for the governor and adjutant general to show cause why they should not be held in contempt for spurning his decrees. This order was served on the governor and Stoddard on March 2.

A week later Judge Deaver began hearings on the contempt of court citations. He continued the proceedings until March 12 and after a day's argument announced he would render his decision later.

Tobey Rebuked by Roosevelt in Row Over U. S. Census

First To Urge Breaking Law

Washington, March 15 (AP)—The 1940 census row generated new rancor today, with President Roosevelt accusing Senator Tobey (R-NH) of inciting the people to "violate the law and Tobey changing the chief executive with Hitlerian tactics."

The sharply-worded exchange was an indirect affair because the president was confined to the White House with a cold and Senator Tobey was resting on his farm at Temple, N. H.

Unable to hold his regular press conference, Mr. Roosevelt asked Stephen Early, White House secretary, to tell newsmen:

"The president would have told you that for the first time in his knowledge a United States Senator openly advised the American people to violate the law and held himself out as the one person who will not answer me two income questions when he knows full well that in his case the answer will be unnecessary since the enumerator would know the Senator earns more than $5,000."

Not Mentioned by Name Early did not mention Tobey by name. There was no doubt, however, about the senator in question because Tobey is sponsor of a resolution which would express Senate disapproval of census questions about income, and has asserted that citizens would be within their rights in refusing to answer them.

(Secretary of Commerce Hopkins announced last night that anyone who did not wish to tell an enumerator his income could put the answers, unsigned, into an envelope for delivery to the census bureau.)

Charles Tobey, Jr., son and secretary to the senator, promptly telephoned his father and received a telegram to send to the White House.

"In view of the serious nature of your charge," the telegram said, "I am obliged to ask you to kindly advise me what law you refer to."

The telegram went on to say that the Senate committee on commerce had determined that the income questions were illegal; and that the bill of rights says "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated" and had been interpreted by the Supreme Court to exempt a citizen's "private affairs, books and papers from the inspection and scrutiny of others."

Recalls Hitler Tactics "If it is your position that an unauthorized ruling of a departmental bureau constitutes a law of the United States, then it is important that the people recall that such were the tactics used by Hitler in gaining powers never sanctioned by the people. It is time to call a halt to attempts of departments to abrogate to themselves the functions of a legislative body especially in matters which threaten the people if this free country with imprisonment for not bowing to the will of a bureau."

Ursuline Lassies End Perfect Season

The Ursuline Academy lassies closed an undefeated basketball season this week by defeating the Hixson Hicks, a sextet composed of Fort Hill High School players of the 1940 season, 15-9 on the SS. Peter and Paul School court.

Ursuline, which trailed 9-7 at the half, was paced by Betty Harrison who caged four field goals and four of six fouls for all but three of her team's points. Caprossi was high for the losers with four markers.

In the preliminary, the Ursuline Reserves and the Lamp Lighters battled to a 12-12 deadlock. Glick made half of Ursuline's points while Martin and Nesbitt shared eight of the losing crew's counters. The lineup:

Physician Declares Dentistry Looks Back on Century Of Organized Scientific Effort

Mumps Should Be Taken Seriously

Termed One of the Most Contagious Diseases Known to Doctors

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
The great infectious disease of spring is mumps. Although it is with us always, it is particularly likely to break out in the spring months. It has several peculiarities. It is one of the most contagious diseases that we have. Its immunity does not last forever or, in plain words, you may have several attacks during your life. The person who has mumps is contagious for longer than a person with any other contagious disease. And last, but not least, it is generally regarded as a joke when, as a matter of fact, it should be taken seriously.

How It Is Spread
Since the infection is localized in the parotid glands, it is natural that infection to others occurs from cough droplets and, in a household of children, from the indiscriminate use of the same handkerchief or towel. It is almost impossible, once mumps is started in a household, to keep others from becoming infected.

In the army camp where I was stationed during our last war, we had wards for all the infectious diseases. Sometimes the measles wards and scarlet fever wards and chickenpox wards would be entirely empty. But we always had mumps. Whenever a new draft of troops came along, we got a couple of mumps wards ready because we knew they would soon be filled.

The first symptom is pain around the ear, so that the child is thought to have an earache. But if lemon or orange juice taken in the mouth causes pain, it is likely to be mumps.

Swelling Increases

The swelling increases from the third to the sixth day, at which time the face takes on the comic appearance which has made the disease to be considered as a joke.

The important thing to stress in treatment is the prevention of the involvement of the reproductive glands; for this, rest in bed is imperative, several days in young children or even a week in children at the age of adolescence, from fourteen to twenty.

Aside from rest in bed, the less treatment given the better. An ice pack or cold compress, or hot compress, whichever is the more comfortable, may alleviate the discomfort of the swelling of the salivary glands. In putting a cold compress, remember that the place you want to hit is up around the ears, so run the cloth from below the jaw, over the top of the head, not around the back of the neck. Do the same with the ice pack or hot water bag.

Questions and Answers

R. H. W.: "What is the effect of the excessive use of tobacco on the health of a fifty-year-old man? I have been chewing tobacco for thirty-five years and am seldom without it during my waking hours."

Answer—I do not believe that it has ever been proved that tobacco causes any organic disease in the body, but undoubtedly it has a bad functional effect on the secretions of the stomach and of the movements of the intestine and on the digestive system generally. It may also have a bad effect on the eyes. If any high blood pressure is present, it raises that slightly and will bring on attacks of pain in the heart. From your description your use of it is undoubtedly excessive. As a further piece of advice, it is a habit that, according to my experience, is very easy to stop.

I. M. G.: "Is it injurious to a young person to sleep with someone quite old? I have heard that during sleep an older person will sap the young one's strength."

Answer—There is no harm in the superstitious sense of sapping the younger one's strength. That is a survival of witchcraft. Snoring, bad breath, restlessness and cold feet may be some of the reasonable physical consequences of this situation that might make a person feel tired in the morning, as you say you are.

COUGHING COLDS
HERE'S ACTION THAT TAKES THE WORST OF THE KICK OUT OF THOSE TOUGH COUGHS DUE TO COLDS... RUB CHEST WELL WITH PENETRO

This five-year-old youngster, who had two infected teeth pulled under general anesthesia the day before this picture was taken, has no fear of the dentist.

Spartan courage on the part of the patient and little more than brute strength on the part of the dentist were the chief dental requirements in Europe before science entered dentistry.

The modern dentist is a scientist, seeking the cause of oral diseases to eliminate or control it.

By Central Press

Baltimore, March 15.—It's hard to believe, but it's a fact that 100 years ago the world knew no general surgical anesthesia and if one needed an operation, he either suffered the tortures of the damned or just didn't have it.

The discovery of surgical anesthesia makes an interesting story and it will be told many times during 1940, because throughout the year, American dentistry is celebrating 100 years of organized scientific effort, and it was a dentist who discovered that patients could be operated on without pain while under the influence of gas.

They Take a Whiff

The dentist was Horace Wells of Hartford, Conn. Wells, who had been playing with the idea of general anesthesia, one night attended a lecture by one Professor Colton on the peculiarities of nitrous-oxide gas. During the lecture-demonstration, the professor invited his listeners to inhale the gas and experience its intoxicating effects.

One fellow apparently took too many whiffs of the gas and staggered around the room like a man well-stocked with alcohol. The "drunk" slammed his shin into a bench while Wells was watching him. Wells asked him if he hurt his shin, whereupon the fellow replied, "What shin and what bench?" Although examination revealed a nasty bruise on his leg, the fellow felt no sensation of pain when he bumped the bench.

With scientific perspective Wells experimented with nitrous-oxide gas and soon after had one of his teeth pulled when "under." It was the first operation performed under general anesthesia. In 1844, Wells gave a public demonstration of his surgical anesthesia. Two years later, Dr. William T. G. Morton, another New England dentist, demonstrated the use of sulphuric ether as a general anesthetic.

American dentistry takes pride in the achievement of Wells and Morton and will honor the two New England dentists during the Baltimore Dental Centenary, which will be held in Baltimore on March 18, 19 and 20. Honored, too, will be Dr. Horace Hayden and Chapin Harris, who in 1840, founded the first dental school in the world in Baltimore.

Baltimore College Pioneer

Although dentistry has been practiced with varying success since the dawn of civilization, it wasn't until Hayden and Harris foresaw the need of scientific understanding of mouth ailments and founded the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery that dentistry came to light as a real health service profession.

One hundred years ago the extraction of a tooth called for little more than Spartan courage on the part of the patient and brute strength on the part of the operator. Such was dentistry through the ages. Prints from ancient and medieval times indicate the pulling of a tooth was more like a wrestling match than a scientific operation.

The medieval dentist was, oftentimes, the barber, the so-called physician or just a handy man, who traveled from town to town plying his calling.

Since the time of Adam and Eve every substance known to the animal, vegetable and mineral kingdoms has been prescribed to relieve an aching tooth. When "medicine" failed, the supernatural was invoked. One dental genius of the Middle Ages advised his patients to run around the church three times without thinking of a fox to relieve an aching tooth.

The most fantastic of all toothache remedies was prescribed by an anonymous humorist who advised the sufferer to fill his mouth with cold water and sit on a hot stove until the water boiled.

Came The Dawn

But all this has changed in the last 100 years. Dentistry, working with scientific design, has sought to learn the cause of tooth ailments to eliminate the effect. A toothache, for example, is not a disease in itself. Rather it is usually a symptom of the most common ailment of mankind, tooth decay. The only way to relieve an aching tooth permanently is to remove the decayed portion of the aching molar and fortify the remainder of the tooth with a chemically-sound filling.

And here's a little more free dental advice—neglect is the greatest menace to mouth health. Take care of your teeth and gums religiously. See the family dentist on occasion and you will be protected from these dental ailments which add up to lost teeth and tremendous dental bills in later life.

SHAMROCKS

Five Ghosts Gather on a Famous Day and Make a Beautiful Lady Weep for Sorrow

By MARTIN ROWAN

The time is St. Patrick's Day. The place is Brian Boru's Inn on the North Side of Chicago. Seated at a table are five men—five very old men. There is Brian Boru himself, with Myles Slasher O'Reilly, Patrick Sarsfield, Pionn MacCool and Owen Roe O'Neill. They are playing cards, the game is that well-known Irish game of forty-five. The beautiful golden-haired hostess is Grainne Uaile.

"Well, men, I see we all got our heads, each with a glass in his hand. Five broken old men living in blissful dreams of the past. Grainne saw the tragedy of it. Two great tears rolled down her cheeks.

Dermot MacMurrough entered. "You seem to have forgotten your nationality for the second time, Dermot," said Grainne. "You do not wear the shamrock."

"It is a shame," said Dermot, "an unholly shame. True I made a grievous mistake in the past—and have since been branded a traitor. I assure you, Grainne, that I have repented. My heart aches for the shamrock. But yesterday the shamrock came to me in a letter from Ireland. The postal authorities desired to levy a tax of 10 cents on the shamrock. I did not possess a dime and was thus compelled to refuse the letter."

Again two big tears streamed down the cheeks of Grainne. She plucked the spray of shamrock from her breast, walked across the floor and pinned it to the tattered coat of Dermot MacMurrough.

Monday: Ed Varney has to have a good reason for coming back, because he died once. "Back Home," by Frank Bennett.

Fifteen million fish eggs were taken from natural spawning beds in Wyoming in 1939, either for sale or for hatching in the state's hatcheries.

The National Association of Childrologists estimates the average housewife walks about eight miles daily in attending to her household duties.

"The luck of the Irish, Pionn," smiled Owen O'Neill.

"I do not understand why you say that, Owen," said Pionn MacCool, "for we are all Irish here."

"We Ulster men must have our joke," said Owen Roe.

"Do not forget, Owen Roe, that I am an Ulster man, myself," said Pionn.

"The whole world knows that, Pionn," replied Owen Roe.

The game was over, Pionn MacCool had won.

"It is indeed a very lucky man I am this day," said Pionn.

"Lucky at cards, unluckily at love, Pionn," said Myles O'Reilly.

Pionn MacCool leaped to his feet. "Those are fighting words, Myles," said he.

True, it was well known that these were painful words to Pionn, for long years ago in Ireland Grainne was betrothed to Pionn, and Grainne had eloped with the gay dashing Diarmuid O'Dhuinn on her wedding day.

"There was no offense meant, Pionn," said Myles.

"You were a good swordsman in your day, Slasher O'Reilly," said Pionn. "You held the bridge against the hosts of England with your soldiers falling around you like grain before the sickle, but do not forget that I was a captain of the Fenian hosts and I did not give ground to any man."

"Pull well Myles knows that, Pionn," said Patrick Sarsfield. "However, you must remember that the expression at which you took umbrage has come into common usage and it is as such, I am sure, Slasher used it. If the Slasher has any failing it is that he is becoming modern."

"Ultra-modern I would call it," laughed Brian Boru. "Myles was always a gay blade."

"Your quip is pointed as well as humorous, Brian," said Pionn MacCool. "Not alone was the Slasher always a gay blade, the greatest swordsman Ireland has ever known, or will ever know again. Your pardon, Slasher O'Reilly," begged Pionn.

"There is nothing to forgive, Pionn," said Myles, the Slasher. "The drinks are on me, gentlemen," said Patrick Sarsfield.

"Not this day, Patrick," said Brian Boru. "Pionn himself is the only pagan amongst us, but I am sure that on a day such as this he will not refuse to drink a toast in honor of Saint Patrick. This day the drinks are on me."

"I will gladly pledge a toast, Brian," said Pionn, "for if St. Patrick was a saint he was a soldier, too. The Irishman in me will do honor to the memory of a soldier if, pagan that I am, I cannot subscribe to the sanctity of a saint."

"Six glasses of our best Irish liquor, if you please, Grainne Uaile," said Brian Boru to the hostess.

Grainne brought the drinks. Each of the old men took a glass in his hand.

"This is for you, Grainne," said Brian Boru, as he handed her the sixth glass, "loyally and honorably have you, too, worn the shamrock."

"Blainthe! Slainthe to old Ireland!" said Grainne Uaile. As she lifted her glass to her lips she looked at the five old men. Five gray-haired old men with bowed

Queen Wilhelmina And Roosevelt Will Be on Radio

Others Will Be Heard in World Peace Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

Associated Press Radio Editor

New York, March 15.—Dedicated to the cause of world peace, a special hour and a half program is to be heard on three networks Saturday afternoon with both Queen Wilhelmina, of the Netherlands, and President Roosevelt included among the half dozen or so speakers. The broadcast, in connection with the Christian Foreign Service convention, will be carried by WEA-NBC, WABC-CBS and WOR-MBS at 2 p. m. It was arranged under auspices of the Foreign Missions conference of North America.

Toscanini Returns
Arturo Toscanini returns to the podium of the NBC symphony orchestra on WJZ-NBC at 10 p. m. for a scheduled series of eight concerts. He has been away since last December. The return program will include Roy Harris' recently completed third symphony in one movement.

Two anniversary broadcasts are scheduled. At 7:30 via WJZ-NBC the American Legion holds its 21st birthday party in an hour's program. At 8:30 on WEA-NBC there will be a special half hour celebrating the 138th anniversary of the founding of the U. S. military academy at West Point.

Metropolitan to Give "Faust"
The Metropolitan opera broadcasts from the New York state close with the WJZ-NBC transmission at 2 of "Faust" with Richard Crooks in the title role. Immediately afterward at 5:15 there will be a special program from the Old Piper's opera house at Virginia City, Nev. Next week WJZ-NBC will carry the first of a series of spring tour matinees by the Metropolitan company.

A couple of features: WEA-NBC 8, Arch Oboler's plays in finale of present series, Ronald Colman in "The Most Dangerous Game"; WOR, WGN, CKLW and WOL of MBS at 8:30, New psychic phenomena series. Also a new program, Lincoln Highway, starts on WEA-NBC at 10 a. m.

Sunday Features
A 1 p. m. addition to MBS is to be a play by broadcast of the Finnish relief fund baseball game at Tampa, Fla., between all-stars of the American and National league, now in spring training.

Lawrence Tibbett of the songs is to be included among the features of another Sunday of music, drama and variety fare on the radio. He appears in the Sunday Evening hour of WABC-CBS at 9 p. m., singing as his high spot number the modern song epic, "Ballad for Americans."

McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd will desert Hollywood for the next several weeks in favor of doing his WEAF-NBC Broadcast at 8 from New York's Radio City. This time he is hoping that nobody will dump-nop Charlie as happened last winter.

The Ave Maria hour Passion Play, radio's oldest drama of the last days of Christ, will be broadcast daily during Holy week over Station WCBM, according to Father Patrick McCarthy, S. A. director. The program begins at 6:30 p. m. on Palm Sunday and is heard daily at 9:00 a. m. through Easter Sunday.

Dismissal of Union Officers Upheld

Springfield, Ill., March 15 (AP)—The dismissal of two state officers of the Progressive Mine Workers of America (AFL) was upheld in a referendum of the union's state membership by a vote of 6,225 to 3,810, the PMWA's board of tellers announced here.

The vote was asked by Dave Reed of Maryville, former state president, and John Battuello, former board member for the Gillespie area, following their thirteen-month suspension by the district PMWA trial board for activities contrary to union policy.

The two officers were suspended January 18 after a lengthy trial in which they were accused of "unauthorized negotiations" with Ray Edmundson, state president of the rival CIO union—the United Mine Workers of America.

Don't Take Sides
Suppose we do behave ourselves in such a fashion when our child complains about the teacher and the school. He soon begins to think himself imposed upon. He is a martyr much abused; his teacher is his enemy. He learns to hate his work at school and dreads to go. His homework is despised, and learning has but little lure for him. He has good reason now to earn low grades, and if he fails he knows that he will have to offer no excuse;

Parents Listen To Child Tell Of "Injustices"

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
A favorite place for the child to talk about the things he doesn't like at school is the dinner table. The teacher is often the center of his criticism.

We parents may not be interested in the child's remarks at other times, but our ears are keen when he talks about "injustices" at school. Encouraged by our rapt attention, the young critic goes on very freely, embellishing his accounts to suit his fancy and convenience. Furthermore, we are inclined to lend encouragement by our approving looks. We may do more; we may be weak and vain enough to emphasize his condemnation, even dwelling on some evils of the school that he had never thought about.

Invite Opposition
Almost surely we shall set the teacher against us and against our child, and inevitably we shall then destroy the child's success at school—impaired, perhaps, his educational destiny. We shall also lose; the money which we pay in taxes will have been wasted. We could not be more extravagant if we were to throw half a hundred dollar bills into a blazing fire.

If we are sensible, the next time our child complains about his school and teacher, we shall listen patiently and let him go on so long as he is courteous in his remarks. If we really think there are some wrongs at school, we shall, after waiting prayerfully for a few days, go calmly to the school and talk things over with the teacher. We shall go to learn and not to scold, and go determined to be decent. The chances are we shall come home much wiser and better parents.

Engagement of Miss Betty Ann Marquis And James B. Reinhart Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Marquis, of 514 Cumberland street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Ann Marquis, to James B. Reinhart, son of Joseph H. Reinhart, of 11 South Lee street, and the late Mrs. Reinhart.

Miss Marquis, who was graduated from Allegheny high school in the class of 1936, is one of the most popular members of the younger social set of this city.

Mr. Reinhart was graduated from LaSalle Institute in the class of 1933. He is associated with the M. D. Reinhart Insurance and Realty business, Liberty Trust building. Before being with this company, he was with Poor, Bowen, Bartlett and Kennedy, Inc. He is a director of the Junior Association of Commerce of Cumberland.

The wedding will take place in May.

Bridge Luncheon Is Beautifully Appointed

One of the most beautifully appointed parties given in this city was that of Mrs. H. H. McCloskey, of LaVale, who entertained forty friends with a luncheon and bridge Thursday at the All Ghan Country Club, Baltimore pike.

Tables were set in banquet form and surrounded a sunken garden of Easter lilies and roses, which were attractively offset with indirect lighting. Miniature straw hats, some trimmed in spring flowers, and some trimmed with colorful feathers, and miniature pocketbooks were given as favors to each guest, which were made by the hostess. Each had rested on a miniature stand.

Prizes were wrapped in cellophane shaped as hats or pocketbooks. In each guest's miniature pocketbook were tallies, which were in the form of drums, drumsticks, spinning-wheels, yarn, wedding rings, engagement rings, cans of soup and can openers. These were matched in a novel way to designate partners. Refreshments were carried out in the motif of hats and pocketbooks. The color scheme was carried out in red, green, blue, lavender and yellow. Sweetpeas adorned the center of the table.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Mabel Popp, Mrs. Carl Reed, Mrs. Edgar Vandegrift, Mrs. Henry C. Swearingen, Mrs. Albert Carlson, Mrs. Henry Price and Mrs. William Cramer, Sr.

The guests invited were: Mrs. S. Hodge Smith, Mrs. L. J. Lanich, Mrs. Donald LaCoss, Mrs. Mrs. Emmett Murray, of Scarsdale;

Mrs. Frederick Dodge, Mrs. Milton Twigg, Mrs. Harry Simpson, Mrs. Raymond Bete, Mrs. Emerson Loar, Mrs. Meredith Wright, Mrs. Reamer Sewell, Mrs. E. J. Dietrich, Mrs. Leslie Gordon, Mrs. Bruce H. Bible Class Meetings

The next meeting of the Mizpah Bible Class of the Evangelical church will be held the first Tuesday in April at the home of Mrs. Lena Scarlett, Potomac street.

The class met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mildred Fike, Mary street, with eight members present, namely, Mrs. Lottie Richardson, Mrs. Blanche Erickson, Mrs. Bessie Crabtree, Mrs. Alda Stevanus, Mrs. Eva Brinkman, Mrs. Lena Scarlett and Mrs. Albert Holter.

Club Has Spelling Bee

St. Mary's Newman club held a spelling bee Thursday evening in the auditorium of St. Mary's church, Oldtown road. Plans were also made at this time for a skating party to be held in the near future at a place as yet undecided. Refreshments were served. Following the refreshments, the club danced in St. Mary's hall, Oldtown road.

Those present were: Frederick Dordil, Rita Brinker, Richard Sell, Leroy Klosterman, Betty Klosterman, Elizabeth Willard, Dorothy Luck, Edward Willard, Joan Welsh, Rose Ellen Dunlap, Raymond Dunlap, James Grabenstein, Francis Grabenstein, Kenneth Willard, Dixie Harden, Donald Harden, Joseph Howarth, Francis Brinker, James Schultz.

VALUE DISTRIBUTION

SOME PLAYERS get so "honored" that they overlook an equally effective trick-taking element—distribution. The little cards of a long suit, when established, are just as good as so many more aces. And a blank suit, when you hold plenty of cards in your partner's suit, is just about as valuable to your side as the ace or ace-king of it would be, sometimes more so. After your partner has shown his suit, you must calculate its value if laid down on the table as a dummy for him, and not the same as you would rate it when thinking about an opening bid.

And at a spade game it was played, declarer making two overtricks because the heart J was led, only one trick being lost in clubs. Against a slam contract, West would have led differently and it would have been held to five-odd.

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

But the sad part of it is that East and West can make a small slam at diamonds against a heart lead, a grand slam against the probable lead of a spade. West hopped all over his partner, when it was over, for not bidding. East pleaded that he could not dare come in at the five level while vulnerable. He didn't have to. He could have bid 4-Diamonds on his first turn after hearing his partner make a vulnerable overcall of 2-Diamonds. Then, after South bid 4-Spades, West could have gone to 5-Diamonds, at least making sure of a game bid. If North and South overbid that, East ought to go to 6-Diamonds, which probably would get doubled by South.

Preventing Pore Problems

By HELEN FOLLETT

ENLARGED pores worry a lot of beauty waiters. Too bad they have to have them. We start out in life with skins so delicate that pores are scarcely noticeable. If the texture coarsens, it is because health habits are not favorable or because the care of the complexion has been casual.

The skin sends forth salty exudations and chemical elements that should be removed at least twice a day with soap and water. If they remain upon the skin surface, the epidermal coat becomes rough and horrid. After soap is used there should be a creaming, and the cream should be removed with cleansing tissues. Bedtime is best for that detail of the beauty ritual.

In the morning it is necessary to use cold water to contract the pores and then an astringent. Put it on with pledge of cotton, let it dry. It is not good beauty policy to use a heavy, oily powder when pores have expanded.

An overworked digestive system has a deplorable effect upon the skin. Meals should be simple and light. Fruit juices, tomato juice and lemonade are good for the girl who suffers from a skin that looks like an old pin cushion.

Dowdy ears are a terrible affliction. Thank goodness they can be cured with side locks.

Improve them by powdering lightly, touching the lobes with faint rose rouge. Don't call attention to them by wearing ear rings which, if at all heavy, will make the lobes even longer.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Don't neglect the stair bannisters. They get soiled from the number of hands that pass over them every day. Wash frequently with soap and water, in addition to a daily dusting. Then rub with furniture oil and polish with soft, clean cloths.

TRY MY NEW CAKE FOR

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

SO LIGHT, DELICATE, MADE WITH SPRY

SAYS AUNT JENNY

Only Spry gives ALL these

3 EXTRA ADVANTAGES

Purer—stays fresh longer—creams so easily

"SPRY looks purer. Just notice its gleaming whiteness," says Aunt Jenny. "An' Spry is purer. See how you can fry without getting unpleasant smell or smoke. Notice what a fine, delicate flavor Spry cookin' has. An' so digestible, too."

"I hope every last one of you'll make this cake an' discover what wonderful cakes Spry gives—so light, fine-grained, velvety, good-tastin'. An' you save money, too. See how little Spry costs compared to what you pay for the most expensive cake shortenin'. Change to Spry for all bakin' an' fryin'!"

It's easy as pie! I use the new 1940 "Top-Speed" Rinso. It washes clothes actually many shades whiter than old-type soaps

AND SO HER FRIEND TRIED THE NEW RINSO

RINSO'S EVEN BETTER THAN YOU SAID! WHAT A FAST-WORKING SOAP IT IS. IN A JIFFY IT GIVES A TUBFUL OF THICK, LIVELY SUDS!

AND WAIT TILL YOU SEE HOW THOSE BUSY RINSO SUDS LAST. YOU'LL BE THRILLED. THAT'S WHY I USE RINSO FOR DISHES AND ALL CLEANING. IT'S EASY ON HANDS... AND SO ECONOMICAL

I WISH I COULD MEET EVERY WOMAN FACE TO FACE! I'D SAY, IF YOU HAVEN'T TRIED RINSO LATELY... PLEASE DO! IT'S A WONDER FOR SPEED... AND GETS CLOTHES A WHITER WHITE... IT'S SAFE... LEAVES WASHABLE COLORS FRESH AND BRIGHT

*Not one or just a few—but the makers of 33 leading washers recommend Rinso! Rinso is grand for tub washing, too. It soaks clothes clean without hard scrubbing or boiling.

Lent's the Time To Try New Fish Sauces

But Be Sure To Serve the Right One with the Right Dish

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
 AP Feature Service Writer

When the family begins to balk at eating fish, as sometimes happens along about mid-Lent, it's time for Madam The Cook to spring some new sauces on them. Fish without sauce is like apple pie without cheese, only more so. But the sauce has to be just right.

TARTAR SAUCE is one of the standbys, but you can give it a springlike touch by making it this way: Mix 1/2 cup stiff mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon each of chopped olives, green peppers and onion or chives. Add a speck of salt, paprika and chopped parsley. Chilled, it works wonders with broiled or baked fish.

If you want a sauce 100 per cent man-like, here it is: Blend 1/2 cup each of chili sauce and catsup with 1/4 cup stiff mayonnaise, mix in 2 tablespoons each of chopped celery,

Here's broiled fish with a Florida touch—grapefruit added during cooking; grapefruit sauce served with it.

BROILED FISH WITH GRAPEFRUIT

Lay well cleaned flaked fish, or fish fillets, on a broiler or in a shallow pan. Brush with melted fat and broil for 10 minutes 6 inches below a glowing flame (broiler). Turn, brush with more fat and sprinkle with a little salt and pepper. Broil for 5 minutes and then surround with grapefruit segments which have been lightly sprinkled with mace and melted butter. Broil with the fish for 10 minutes. Transfer to a heated platter, garnish with cream or parsley, and serve with Florida sauce.

FLORIDA SAUCE
 4 tablespoons 1/4 cup grapefruit juice
 1 teaspoon grated grapefruit rind
 Melt butter with grapefruit rind. Cook until butter is lightly browned. Add grapefruit juice and heat. Makes 1/2 cup of sauce excellent for fish.

onions and sweet pickles. Season with a little salt and paprika and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice. It is called SAUCE BRIANE and makes a perfect partner for fish served in any fashion—including cakes, croquettes or timbales.

LEMON SAUCE BETTINA sets off salmon steak, broiled or browned fillets or stuffed halibut slices. Melt 3 tablespoons of butter and add 4 tablespoons of flour, mix in 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon each of paprika, minced onions and chopped celery. Pour in 2 cups milk and cook until a creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Mix in 2 egg yolks and 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Serve at once, either passed in a bowl or poured directly over the fish.

If you want to win friends, OYSTER MARGUERITE SAUCE will do it. Heat 4 tablespoons of butter in a frying pan, mix in 3 tablespoons each of chopped celery, onions and green peppers. Simmer 3 minutes, then add 1/2 cup chopped oysters. When well mixed, sprinkle with 3 tablespoons of flour, stir, add a cup of hot water, a little salt and paprika and cook until creamy. Pass this sauce with broiled lobster, browned shrimp, tuna or salmon loaves.

Baked stuffed fish or pan-fried fillets take to this CREOLE SAUCE. It gives just the right zest. Simmer, covered, 20 minutes, 2 cups of tomatoes, 1/4 cup chopped celery, 2 tablespoons minced onions, 6 whole cloves, 2 bay leaves, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1 cup of water. Press through a strainer. Pour into 3 tablespoons of butter, mixed with 4 tablespoons of flour. Cook until thick and creamy. Stir constantly, and when ready to serve mix in 1/4 cup chili sauce.

For a mild flavored sauce, serve CHEESE MORNEY—it gives needed flavor and extra fat to bland fish steaks, fillets or croquettes. Make a creamy white sauce for each cup of fish, mix in 1/4 cup grated cheese, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 2 teaspoons minced pimientos, 1 egg yolk and 1/4 teaspoon onion juice. Beat well, reheat and serve at once.

Hungarian Style Of Cabbage Is A Piquant Dish

Is there ever a homemaker who doesn't start out the New Year full of good resolutions about menu plans and food budgets? And is there ever a homemaker who along about now is not already faltering in those resolves? Planning attractive and nourishing menus 365 days a year—365 this year!—is a terrific job—but that's where we come in! Our food and homemaking pages are prepared just to help you with this daily job of keeping your family well—and happily—fed!

To Perk Service
 Today's recipe was chosen with an eye to perking up your vegetable service. Cabbage as ordinarily served, either steamed or drenched with butter, or creamed, doesn't create any excitement at the table—but Hungarian Cabbage is guaranteed to have the family clamoring for more! It's a whiff of dill and a rich, sour creamy dressing that transform this lowly vegetable into a glamorous dish! Just you try

Hungarian Cabbage
 1 large onion; 2 quarts coarsely chopped cabbage; 2 teaspoons salt; few dill seeds; 8 tablespoons butter; 1 cup irradiated evaporated milk; 2 tablespoons vinegar.
 Cut onion in thin slices. Add to cabbage, with salt, dill and butter, and cook slowly in a tightly covered pan until tender, about 20 minutes. Stir vinegar into milk. Pour over cabbage and heat. Serve hot. Yield: 8 servings.
 Hungarian Cabbage is an old-world recipe to bring new zest to your menus. And it is so simple to prepare. The piquant, creamy-rich dressing is made in a jiffy by stirring a little vinegar into irradiated milk just as it pours from the can. For another pleasing variation, use a little finely minced parsley in place of the dill.

New Cocktail Tidbit Quite Worth Trouble

Try these new Ham-and-Cheeses for your next cocktail party. Roll rich biscuit dough a third of an inch thick. Cut out one and one-third-inch circles. On half of them spread ham relish mixed with creamed or grated yellow cheese, moistened with a little tangy salad dressing. Sprinkle with paprika. Cut out the centers of the remaining dough circles with a small cutter or thimble. Put the doughnut shapes on the ham-cheese circles, press the edges together with a fork and bake five minutes in a moderate oven.
 Serve hot. They are worth the trouble it takes to make them.

Calvary—Triumph Through Sacrifice

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON 3-46

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 17 is Matthew 26:57-27:56. The Golden Text being Isaiah 53:3. "He was despised, and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief.")

AFTER JUDAS' betrayal of Jesus in Gethsemane, the Lord was bound and taken first to Annas, the high priest, Caiaphas' father-in-law. There is no account in the gospels of what transpired there. Then He was taken to Caiaphas. This man was head of the Sanhedrin, the highest court in Israel, composed of 70 Jewish men, all over 40 years of age, all scholars in their attainments and of unblemished reputation.

These men were resolved that Christ should die, but they made a semblance of trying Him, producing false witnesses, one of whom said Jesus had said, "I am able to destroy the temple of God, and to build it in three days," a thing Jesus had not said.

The high priest asked Jesus if this were true and He held His peace, so Caiaphas asked Him, "I adjure thee, by the Living God, that thou tell us whether thou dost know the Christ, the Son of God?" Jesus answered, "Thou hast said; nevertheless, I say unto you, Hereafter shall ye see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven."

Guilty of Death
Then the high priest rent his clothes, saying, "He hath spoken blasphemy; what further need have we of witnesses? behold, ye have heard His blasphemy." The others answered, "He is guilty of death." These men then spit in His face and buffeted Him, the story says, others smiting Him with palms of their hands. It was at this time that someone asked Peter if he was not one of Christ's companions and he denied it. Three times was he asked this question, and thrice did he deny his Lord, and at the third denial the cock crowed as Jesus had said.

The next morning they took the Master to Pontius Pilate, the governor, because only he could condemn to death. In the meantime, Judas had repented of his betrayal of his Lord. He had not spent the 30 pieces of silver, so he took them to the high priests and offered them back, saying, "I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood." But they answered, "What is that to us?" and refused to take it. Judas thereupon threw the money down and went out and hanged himself. The priests did not know what to do with this blood money, and finally used it to buy a "potter's field"—a place where the very poor could be buried. To this day the burial place of the outcasts is called "potter's field." Pilate questioned Jesus, and at last admitted that he could find no fault with Him. At the feast of the passover, it was the custom for the governor to release a prisoner. Now there was a prisoner named Barabbas, a criminal, and Pilate asked the people if they wanted Jesus released or Barabbas, for he found Jesus innocent of any crime, and wanted to release Him, but he feared to anger the people. They cared nothing for Barabbas, and demanded that Jesus be crucified.

Pilate's Wife Has Dream
Pilate's wife sent word to him that he should have nothing to do with condemning Jesus, as He was righteous, as she had been warned in a dream. But even with this warning, Pilate had not the courage to release Him. All he did was to publicly wash his hands to signify that he would have nothing to do with the death of this innocent person. "I am innocent of the blood of this just person, see to it," he said. And the multitude roared, "His blood be on us, and on our children."

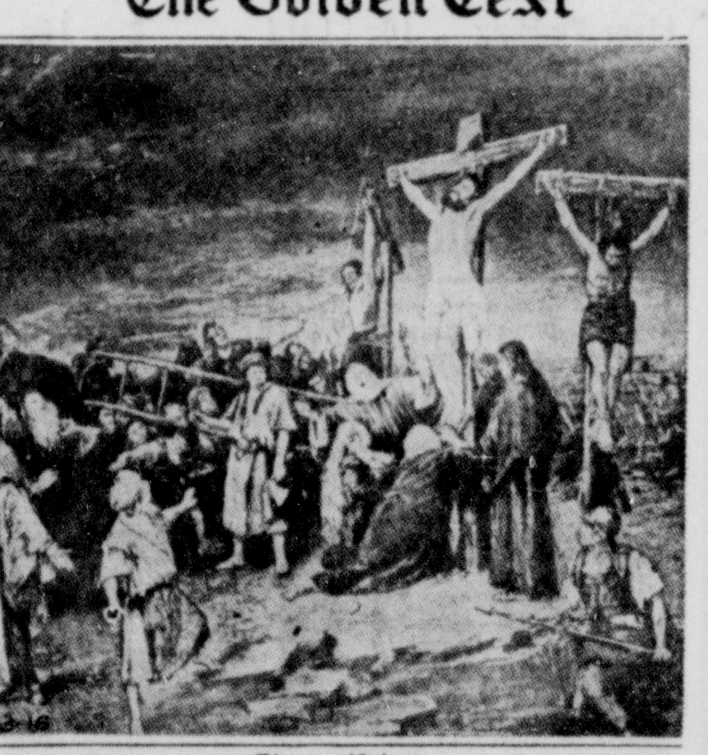

So Jesus was led away and beaten. The soldiers of the governor took His clothes away and mockingly dressed Him in a scarlet robe, platted a crown of thorns which they put on His head, and a reed in His right hand, bowing before Him in derision, they cried, "Hail, King of the Jews." They beat Him and otherwise abused our Lord. Taking away the scarlet robe, they gave Him His own clothes and led Him away to be crucified.

It is almost more than we can bear to think of these last hours of Jesus, the cruelty which He bore patiently for our sakes; the agony of that dreadful death which He suffered as a man. His disciples all had forsaken Him; when He asked for water they gave Him vinegar mingled with gall. Over His head on the cross was nailed the legend, "This is Jesus the King of the Jews." In mockery, of course. They taunted Him for not saving Himself, but after His death, when the earth grew dark and there was an earthquake, they became afraid and ran away, for they thought "Truly this was the Son of God."

None of the apostles seems to have been present at the crucifixion, but Jesus' mother, Mary Magdalen and Mary, mother of James and Joseph, were there, grieving, and they were the first at the tomb in the morning, for the evening after Jesus' death a rich man, named Joseph, took the body, wrapped it in clean linen, and put it in his own newly-made tomb, rolling a rock against the opening.

Dragons-Collegians in Title Game Sunday

Former, Winner of Elimination for Track at Champs

Game To Start at 3 O'clock at S.S. Peter & Paul Gym Here

Knaps--Garrett & Zilch In Consolation Prelim

Cumberland's Dragons and the Collegians will tangle tomorrow afternoon on the S.S. Peter and Paul court for the independent court championship of the city. The contest is billed for 3 o'clock. "Hank" Lindsay's Dragons need a shot at the title by trimming Sam's Candy Kitchen five, Tuesday night, 54 to 34. Last Sunday in the open games the elimination series Candy Kitchen trounced Knaps Clothing, 27 to 27. The Dragons walked off to a 40-24 victory over Knaps Clothing and Garrett-Zilch 40-24 in a consolation game at 6 o'clock. Ken Gerard will handle the opener and Bobby Cavanaugh will referee the Dragon-Collegians game.

Both the Dragons and Collegians will be at full strength. Probable starting lineups:
Dragons
Schmidt, Henry
Stakem, Cessa
Rowan, Morris
Winters, Rice
Bowman, Koegel
Art Shocum's crew is favored to win, but the Dragons have a smooth, strong attack and accurate shots. Schmidt, Stakem, Rowan and Bowman are the main threats. Allegany Easily Wins Cambridge to Capture Title

Had All Way To Win by 68 to 48-Bell and Mont Star

Cambridge, Md., March 15.—Spectacularly, Allegany High School of Cumberland can tack another title on its mantle after showing the East-Shore champions, Cambridge, how they do it up in the semifinals. Allegany, here to meet Cambridge in a mythical state classic title game, won by a 68-48 score after leading all the way. The quarter scores were 21-9, 30 and 45-34.

Allegany led the Cambridge attack 19 points but Mont was right his heels with 17. In fact the game attack was clicking on all cylinders with Gaffney having 12 points on six field goals and Sherrill tallying eleven on five field goals and a foul.

Davis was the Cambridge canter with 18 points.

Allegany players were treated to a oyster roast here tonight. The team will return to Cumberland tomorrow evening.

McCarthy vs. McKechnie In All-Star Game Sunday

By JOHN LARDNER
Tampa, Fla., March 15 (N.A.N.A.)—It's McCarthy versus McKechnie Sunday, in the All-Star Grapefruit ball game, but is it the Yankees versus the Reds all over again? Not exactly. There are six Cardinals in the National League squad which will play for the Finns, and only five Cincinnati.

"This ain't a review of the last World Series," says Pepper Martin, the St. Louis cheerleader. "It is a preview of the next World Series." That's what Pepper thinks, and it also seems to be what the electorate thought when the squad was named. The whole St. Louis outfield is here. Two Cardinal pitchers will be dealing off the top, and a sixth Cardinal will be anchoring first base.

"And a Cardinal scout (which is me) will be in the stands, scouting the Yankees," announces Mr. Martin. "If these fellows think they have been scouted before, they got a surprise coming. I'll scout 'em up. We gotta be prepared for October."

Crowd Will Get Ideas
The small detail of winning the National League pennant has not been attended to yet, but Mr. Martin says it was overlooked in the press of business and will be straightened out in due course this summer.

If that's the case, this All-Star game will be interesting indeed to behold. Of course, some of the Cardinals won't see action, and some of the eight all-star Yankees will also remain on the bench throughout, but the crowd will get the idea. "Unless Bill McKechnie loses things up by putting those Reds of his in the game," says Mr. Martin thoughtfully. "Maybe I better warn him that nobody wants to see those fellows. I will also advise the customers that they can see the World Series daily by coming over to St. Pete and watching us kick the Yankees around."

The eight Yankees on the American League's all-star squad are Joe DiMaggio, Charlie Keller, Bill Dickey, Joe Gordon, Frank Crosetti, Red Rolfe, Charlie Ruffing, and Lefty Gomez. The Cardinals are Joe Medwick, Terry Moore, and Country Slaughter (the whole outfield), Mort Cooper and Curt Davis, pitchers, and Large John Mize, the first baseman.

It would be most enlightening if Mize and the outfield started the game, with Davis on the mound against Ruffing or maybe Cooper instead of Davis. It's quite possible that by the time October arrives, Cooper will be the big guy of the Cardinal staff. He has youth, strength, and speed on his side, while little remains of the slender Davis but cunning and control.

Deacon May Be Stubborn
However, Deacon will McKechnie has no intention of leading with such a lineup. Never knowing when he has enough, the Deacon may even be stubborn enough to start some of his own Reds, the very same Reds who were brutalized by the Yankees in the last World Series. Frank McCormick will see action, especially if Grove, a southpaw, does any pitching for the American League. Ernie Lombardi will be in there, and either Bucky Walters or Paul Derringer will pitch a little.

At that, it will be nice to see Derringer get a chance to throw a few more to the Yankee batters. He was one of the few Cincinnati players whom the Yanks failed to stampede last fall. For my silver, in fact, he was the outstanding individual of the series.

McKechnie's starting lineup will be as follows, subject to last-minute change:

Mize, first base; Coscarart, second base; Ray, third base; Jurgens, shortstop; Ott, Moore, and Arno-ovich or Goodman, outfielders; Lombardi, catcher.

If the Deacon decides to start a non-Cincinnati pitcher, Al Lopez will probably catch instead of Lombardi.

Joseph They Can't Hurt Us! McCarthy plans to counter as follows:

Fox, first base; Gordon, second base; Keltner, third base; Cronin, shortstop; Williams, DiMaggio, or Keller, outfielders; Hemsley or Dickler, catcher.

The American League catching depends somewhat on the starting pitcher, who might be either Ruffing, Gomez, or Feller. Or, for that matter, Grove. Feller will be restricted to his own private man-agement (Oscar Vitt) to one in-ning's work.

All in all, it is quite a ball game the Finns have got themselves here, the only drawbacks being that some of the older players may not be quite ready and that the pitchers are usually ahead of the hitters at this stage of training.

Watch the Cardinals, too. Watch Mize knock Ruffing's ears off. That'll be a dress rehearsal.

Parsons Defeated At Coalition 49-34
Elkins, March 15.—Coalition High School closed its regular basketball season here this week when it trounced the Parsons High quintet by a 49 to 34 score.

A.A.U. Secretary Would Footnote Dartmouth Marks

Records Set on Unorthodox Track Scramble Up Standard Marks

New York, March 15. (AP)—Dan Ferris, the country's No. 1 authority on track and field, said today he would recommend to the rules committee of the Amateur Athletic Union that it list records set on the Dartmouth College track separately from those established in indoor competition elsewhere.

"The Dartmouth track, with its six and two-thirds laps to the mile, is not a standard competitive running surface," said the secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U. "Because the runners have to make fewer turns, it is only natural that they can run their races in better time than on the 11-lap and 12-lap tracks at Madison Square Garden, the Boston Garden, Philadelphia, Chicago and Kansas City."

Should Be Footnoted
"In evidence, I give you the performance at Dartmouth last night of the New York U. 880-yard relay team. In the national championships at the Garden last month, that same team ran second to Seton Hall, which won in 1 minute 32 seconds. Yet at Dartmouth N.Y.U. ran the distance in 1:27.7, over four seconds faster."

"Mind you, I'm not saying the Dartmouth times shouldn't be listed as American records. They should—but with a footnote indicating the conditions under which they were set. Seton Hall's 1:32 has just as much right for a place in the record book as N.Y.U.'s 1:27.7."

Ferris pointed out that only a few top-notchers get a chance to run at Dartmouth, and that therefore it would be unfair to the vast majority of athletes to let these hand-picked men set records on an unusual track and expect the others to match them under normal conditions. He feels that, unless a line of demarcation is drawn between the two sets of standards, the eventual result will be detrimental to the sport.

Cites Precedent
Ferris added that there was precedent for the action he recommends on the eight world indoor marks set last night by N.Y.U.'s half-mile and mile relay teams (the latter also for 1,600 meters); John Woodruff, for 800 meters and 880 yards; John Borican, for three-quarters of a mile and Jim Herbert, for 400 meters and 440 yards. "Back in 1900," Dan recalled, "Maxey Long ran the 440 in 47 seconds flat. But he did it on a straightaway at the Guttenberg (N. J.) race-track. Since this was a distinct advantage over men running the 440 around one turn, or around two as in the Olympics, Long's time was so identified among U. S. records and never did get world record recognition."

Red Sox Whip Dodgers
Clearwater, Fla., March 15 (AP)—It was the fifth inning, score tied, bases loaded, two out and—Pete Coscarart, Brooklyn's star second baseman, let an easy bouncing grounder hop between his legs and into the outfield.

That error provided the Boston Red Sox with the margin of a 7 to 5 victory over the Dodgers.

White Sox Beat Cubs
Los Angeles, March 15 (AP)—A big eighth inning which produced seven runs, combined with some timely punch in the tenth, gave the Chicago White Sox a 11 to 10 victory today over their National League home town rivals, the Cubs.

Five hits, two of them by Jimmy Webb, together with three walks and an error, figured in the White Sox seven run eighth inning. In the tenth, Webb walked, took third on Taft Wright's single and scored the winning run on Bob Kennedy's single.

AAU Court Tourney Entry Blanks Here
A new supply of entry blanks for the South Atlantic Association A. A. U. Western Maryland sectional basketball tournament to be staged in Cumberland during the week of Monday, March 25, has been received by the sports department of The Times.

The tourney is open to teams in the 100, 115, 130, 145, unlimited "A" and unlimited "B" divisions, and entries will be received until noon of Saturday, March 23.

Members of the local committee have learned Cumberland winners will go direct to Baltimore instead of playing against Hagerstown or Frederick winners in additional elimination contests this year.

Games will be staged here in all divisions having two or more entries, but A.A.U. officials in Baltimore will not make gold medal awards unless the total entries for the whole state reaches at least four in each class.

The local committee has also been advised that boys under 16 years of age, while required to fill out registration blanks, do not need to pay the annual fee of 25 cents in order to compete.

Cleveland Gains 2 to 0 Victory Over Washington

Indians Score Twice in First Inning for Game's only Tallies

Fort Myers, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Cleveland's Indians shut out the Washington Senators 2-0 today in the Tribe's first exhibition game against Major League talent.

First inning singles by Lou Boudreau, Roy Weatherly and Jeff Heath brought the only scoring.

Pirates Beat Athletics
Anaheim, Calif., March 15 (AP)—Bunching three of their six hits along with two walks the Pittsburgh Pirates shoved over five runs in a big sixth inning today to beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5.

Johnny Rizzo's hit with the bases full and Arky Vaughan's double were the big blows of the inning. The A's had taken a 4-1 lead by scoring two runs off Max Butcher in the fourth and two more off Bob Klinger in the fifth.

Giants Stop Yankees
St. Petersburg, Fla., March 15 (AP)—The World Champion New York Yankees can be stopped—and their home town pals, the Giants, are just the fellows who can do it.

Meeting in their first exhibition game in many years, the Giants edged out the Yanks 3-2 today on a tenth-inning triple by Rookie Morris Jones. It was the first defeat in seven games this spring for the Yankees.

Pitchers Hy Vandenberg, Harry Gumbert and Bob Carpenter of the Giants held the famed sluggers to three hits in the last seven innings.

New York (N) 000 000 000—3 2

Rookie Holds Cards
Lakeland, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Young Dick Conger, pressing his bid to become a Major Leaguer in one jump, blanked the St. Louis Cardinals for five innings in an exhibition game here today as the Detroit Tigers came through with a 5 to 2 victory.

Conger, former West Coast collegian, never played professional ball until this year.

St. Louis (N) 000 000 000—2 7
Detroit (A) 020 000 000—5 12

Red Sox Whip Dodgers
Clearwater, Fla., March 15 (AP)—It was the fifth inning, score tied, bases loaded, two out and—Pete Coscarart, Brooklyn's star second baseman, let an easy bouncing grounder hop between his legs and into the outfield.

That error provided the Boston Red Sox with the margin of a 7 to 5 victory over the Dodgers.

White Sox Beat Cubs
Los Angeles, March 15 (AP)—A big eighth inning which produced seven runs, combined with some timely punch in the tenth, gave the Chicago White Sox a 11 to 10 victory today over their National League home town rivals, the Cubs.

Five hits, two of them by Jimmy Webb, together with three walks and an error, figured in the White Sox seven run eighth inning. In the tenth, Webb walked, took third on Taft Wright's single and scored the winning run on Bob Kennedy's single.

$4,000,000 Price Tag on Yankees, But No Purchaser

Best Legitimate Offer Made Was $2,000,000; Club Is For Sale

By JUDSON BALZEV
New York, March 15 (AP)—The New York Yankees may be worth all of the $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 or more that they are popularly supposed to be, but in the Wall Street circles where sums like these are calculated coldly, a "clearance sale" price of $4,000,000 is being quoted with no takers.

In fact, the best legitimate offer yet made was $2,000,000, a reliable financial source told the Associated Press today.

It was impossible to ascertain whether the prices being bandied about in brokerage offices covered the American League club alone or included its many Minor League affiliates. However, it was pointed out that the farm system would be useless, if not worthless, without the parent club.

Turn Deaf Ear
The Madison Square Garden Corporation is one of the prospective purchasers of the Yankees, it was learned, but has made no formal offer since hearing the four million dollar "ask" price.

Another group reported interested if satisfactory terms could be obtained includes Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, and Governor Francis P. Murphy of New Hampshire.

The surprisingly low prices under discussion in qualified financial circles indicated again the caution with which baseball investments are approached by financiers. The same considerations are involved in the Yankee deal that caused the trustees of the estate of Charles Comiskey to seek court permission to sell the Chicago White Sox. At the request of heirs, the court refused.

Taxes Eat Up Estate
Both Comiskey and the late Col. Jacob Ruppert, who lavishly built the Yankee dynasty that has brought four consecutive world championships, made specific provisions in their wills that the ball clubs should be kept intact.

Ruppert's fortune, left to three women, two of them nieces and one a friend, has been estimated at $4,000,000, largely brewing company stock and New York real estate.

The baseball system is reputed to earn close to a half a million dollars annually, but financial observers say it might easily start losing money through circumstances beyond control.

Although the government will grant considerable time for settlement of the estate, federal taxes are expected to be close to $25,000,000 and the New York state tax more than one-third that sum additional.

This means that a start will have to be made somewhere and the ball club, in spite of Col. Ruppert's wishes and plans, may be the stepping off point. It will be, certainly, if the price is right.

Boswell High Wins Five Mal Diadems
Bedford, March 15.—Boswell High captured five of the ten titles in the first District Five championship wrestling tournament ever staged. The meet was held recently in the Bedford High School gymnasium.

Bedford high won four places and the tenth went to Conemaugh Township of Davidsville. Only three teams competed in the tournament, the winners of which qualified to participate in the state P. I. A. A. championships next Saturday at State College. Finals results follow:

85 pounds—Fritz, Boswell, threw Maslack, Conemaugh Township, in 2:32.
95 pounds—Groat, Boswell, won the referee's decision over Perdue, Bedford.
105 pounds—W. Meyers, Boswell, threw Claycomb, Bedford, in 2:15.
115 pounds—J. Meyers, Boswell, won the referee's decision over Salvaggio, Conemaugh Township.
125 pounds—Wilson, Bedford, won the referee's decision over Krupper, Boswell.
135 pounds—Morgart, Bedford, won the referee's decision over Kuchman, Conemaugh Township.
145 pounds—Smith, Bedford, threw Kauffman, Conemaugh Township, in 3:37.
155 pounds—Hydek, Boswell, won the referee's decision over Eschelman, Bedford.
165 pounds—Andrienne, Conemaugh Township, won the referee's decision over Keller, Bedford, in an extra period.
185 pounds—Mundwiler, Bedford, won the referee's decision over Kallenbaugh, Conemaugh Township.

Bi-State Baseball Loop To Be Four-Club Circuit
Four clubs—Midland, Hyndman, Cumberland and Westvaco A. A.—will face the Bi-State Baseball League's 1940 barrier early in May, loop officials announced today following a short business meeting at the Central Y. M. C. A. Thursday.

Westvaco, Hyndman and Cumberland retained their franchises a week ago by posting $50 franchise deposits, while Midland was readmitted to the circuit.

Lonaconing, a 1936 charter member of the Bi-State, and Frostburg, which entered the fold in 1937, as well as Keyser, tentatively admitted a week ago, are definitely out of the picture at this time and as matters stand the league will function this season as a four-club circuit.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY MAKES GOOD

Stanley Schwid

Stanley Schwid, above, may remind old New York Giants fans of the great Walter Hoyt who went straight from a New York high school baseball diamond to the Giants and stardom. Schwid, a graduate of Commerce high, New York, paid his own way to the Giants' Winter Haven, Fla., training camp and paid his expenses there. His zeal was so great and he has shown such undeniable ability he has been awarded a job with one of the Giant farm clubs.

MANAGERS AND THEIR PROBLEMS
Tampa, Fla., Mar. 15. (N.A.N.A.)—The training season is in full blast now and the managers are wrestling with their problems.

At Winter Haven Bill Terry, more optimistic about the Giants than most other persons who have seen them or merely heard about them, nevertheless has a clear insight into their shortcomings. These are principally an uncertainty in the pitching department and the lack of a power punch.

To minimize these weaknesses as much as possible, Bill has been working doubly hard on his defense and trying to sharpen his attack. On defense the pitchers have been drilled rigorously on how to field their positions and Bill Jurgens has been put in command of the other infielders to try to teach them some of his tricks. A play with which the Giants under John McGraw had a remarkable success—the cut-off of throws from the outfield to trap heedless runners between bases—has come in for more attention this spring than in any spring since Terry has been the manager.

To bolster his not very robust attack, Bill has stressed base running. The use of a sliding pit for the first time in a Giant camp under Terry indicates Bill's eagerness to squeeze every possible run out of his light-hitting crew.

Blades and Medwick
At St. Petersburg—on the Cardinals' side of the town—the main problem is, of course, Joe Medwick one of the best anywhere.

Joe is not a new problem for Ray Blades. Last year Medwick, acting at the outset of the season on the theory that Blades wasn't the real manager of the team but merely was a stooge for Branch Rickey, was watchful and waiting. Blades at first rebuked him and then fined him and at last convinced Joe that only Ray Blades was the boss of the ball players. When that happened, Medwick began to hit and hustle and was a big factor in the late season drive that almost won the pennant.

This spring Joe, dissatisfied with his contract, quit the camp to go back to St. Louis, and obviously would welcome being sold to Brooklyn. In the circumstances Blades has to make up his mind whether to pacify Medwick or sell him—no light problem considering the potential value of a satisfied slugger of Medwick's calibre on a team that has an excellent chance to grab the flag.

Durocher and the Dodgers
Leo Durocher, at Clearwater, has numerous problems. If he solves them all, the Dodgers will be in

Kayak Draws Top Weight in Dixie With 134 Pounds

Argentine-Bred Speedster Rated above Rival Challedon

Baltimore, March 15 (AP)—Kayak II, C. S. Howard's Argentine-bred speedster, was rated a notch above Seabiscuit and Challedon in weights released today for the $20,000-added Dixie Handicap, although he has been defeated by both of them.

Handicapper Charles J. McLennan assigned Kayak II top weight of 134 pounds in the field of 51 horses nominated for the mile and three-sixteenths Dixie, to be run at Pimlico May 8, three days before the Preakness.

Seabiscuit, retired stablemate of Kayak II and turfdom's all-time high money-winner, was rated in line with a burden of 132 pounds. W. L. Brann's Challedon, the 1939 three-year-old champion and "horse of the year," drew 130 pounds.

McLennan's weight assignments, received with surprise in some racing circles, furnished the first line on an official handicapper's estimation of the abilities of the leading handicap horses to be seen in action this Spring and Fall.

With Seabiscuit retired permanently by Howard after his successful comeback campaign at Santa Anita, the Dixie looks as a contest pitting Kayak II and Challedon against the field.

Marshall Field's Sir Damion, winner of the Dixie last year, was given a 118-pound impost this year. Other weights included Isolator and Sun Lover, 122; Hash, 120; Third Degree, 118; Pasteurized and Challephen, 116; Honey Cloud, Masked General and War Dog, 115.

Elkins High Trims Davis Cagers 52-41

Elkins, March 15.—Elkins High School defeated Davis High 52-41 in a game played for the Finnish relief fund here this week before a crowd of 500 fans. Elkins led 12-9 at the quarter, 27-18 at the half and 46-34 at the third quarter.

McGee of Elkins and Worden of Davis had 12 points each. The score was tied four times in the first half but Elkins led all the way in the second. The lineups:

'Wild Bill' Willand, Turner Steal C.A.C. Show

Ken Overlin Too Classy for Lynch In Feature Bout

Niland Loses Decision but Impresses in Bout with Turner

Franchi and Parker Furnish Rest of Fireworks for Card

The Cumberland A. C. boxing show at the State Armory was featured, not by the scheduled feature bout which had Ken Overlin, leading middle contender, facing Joe (Butch) Lynch, but by the local writer, "Wild Bill" Niland and Carl Turner, colored lightweight champ of West Virginia. Jumping into an early lead, Niland had the colored boy bewildered by the left jab, that features all of his fights. In the closing rounds, Niland let Turner come in close and fought the West Virginian's fight, landing more clean blows by virtue of his longer reach. The decision of the judges and the referee was unanimous for Turner, but the crowd, usually rooting against Niland, booted the decision heartily.

The main go was a one-sided affair in which Overlin showed his class by punching Lynch at will. Lynch didn't land more than half a dozen solid blows on the challenger for Ceferina Garcia's crown all during the scrap. Overlin was a superior boxer and used a left to the face which Lynch didn't seem to be able to block. In the third, Lynch was on the canvas twice and again in the fourth went down. In the eighth, Lynch ran into a left to the face and then into a right which put him down for the count.

Local Boys Good
The curtain raiser proved again that Perdy Franchi and Delfon Parker are the best money's worth of fight in town. Parker got the decision after the four rounds of hot mulling. In the other four rounds, Stoney Jackson of Frostburg pulled a decision out of the fire when he pounced Bucky Walbert around the mid-section to take the final heat and the fight.

Charlie Brant of Somerset practically put himself on the "verboten" list when he fell all over the ring in the second and third rounds of his scheduled eight round go with Bob Smith, classy Pittsburgh negro light heavy. Referee Charlie Short stopped the bout in the third when Brant went down without apparently being hit.

Walter Johnson, the beloved "Big Train" of baseball and a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Sixth district brought down the house when he was introduced from the ring before the main bout.

The promoters, Maus and Yankelwitz, plan on putting on another card in April.

The officials: Harry Nelson and Tim Dolan; Timekeeper, Bobby Cavanaugh; Referee, Charlie Short, Baltimore; Announcer, Sammy Cosad.

Spring Gap Leghorns Beat Kegg's Clippers

Norman Gerdeman's Spring Gap Leghorns defeated the Cumberland Clippers Thursday night, on the S.S. Peter and Paul court, 46-34. The score was 6-11 at the end of the first period. Suter Kegg's Clippers were leading 16-15 at the intermission. At the close of the third heat the Leghorns held a 27-22 advantage and were never headed.

Sam Cosad, Leghorn captain, paced the scorers with 16 points on eight buckets. Dave Moreland was runner-up for the winners with 10 points.

Hickie led the attack for the Clippers with 10 tallies. Lineups:

Special Services Will Be Held At Frostburg

Services Palm Sunday To Climax Lenten Season at St. Paul's Lutheran

Frostburg, March 15.—The Lenten season at St. Paul's Lutheran church, this city, draws to its climax with the services of Palm Sunday, Holy Week and Easter. At these services, the Rev. Walter V. Simon, pastor, will deliver messages, laying emphasis upon the thought of the season. Palm Sunday morning the sermon will stress the necessity for receiving Jesus as King in lives that give Him complete dominion. The evening meditation will stress the fact of the need of the world for a revival of thoroughgoing and complete Christianity, that evidences itself in changed relationships within the sphere of social, economic and political life, as well as those usually called spiritual.

Three services will be held during Holy Week, Tuesday to Friday evenings. At the first, the Rev. Mr. Simon will preach on "The Gospel according to Judas," a man who relied on financial power or political force to achieve proper ends—and failed. Wednesday evening "The Gospel according to Barabbas," being the theme, Barabbas being the man who went free because Christ stood in his place. The Thursday evening service will be given over to the celebration of the Lord's Supper, to which the prior evening's services are preparatory.

On Easter Sunday, the Resurrection thought will be set before the congregation in a sermon entitled, "Where?" The answer being that Christ is found, if anywhere, alive with power in the lives of those who follow Him, and not entombed in hollow rituals and meaningless forms, any more than in a garden in Palestine. The evening service will be devoted to thinking about His Own challenge, "Follow Me!"

At all services, except those of Thursday, special music will be rendered under direction of Mrs. Blanch Stanton Gunter, with Mrs. Lillian Speir Stewart and Miss Frances Hunter as organists. In particular, a new quartet, "Aurora Coelum Purpurat," by Petri Yon, the composer of the deservedly popular "Jesu Bambino" will be offered by a mixed quartet.

The personnel of the choir rendering Holy Week and Easter music, in addition to those named, is: Misses Elizabeth Hunter, Eleanor Hunter, Dorothy Lloyd, Evelyn Lloyd, Ruth Lloyd, LaVerda Glime, Betty Wilson, Marian Walters, Mrs. Mae Wilson, Mrs. Helen Kniemer, Mrs. Carl Fresh, Messrs. James Darrow, Carl Fresh and the Rev. Walter V. Simon.

To Present Cantata

Palm Sunday will be observed at First Methodist church with two special services. At 10:45 a. m., the morning choir will render a cantata, "The Seven Last Words," with Prof. Arthur Thomas directing and Miss Mabel Myers at the organ. The introduction will be sung by Mrs. Mabel Kemp Durst.

The soloists in the seven parts of the cantata will be as follows: First words, "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do," Oliver Simons and Andrew Nelson; second words, "Verily, Thou today shalt be with Me in Paradise, Amen, so I tell Thee," Oliver Simons and Arthur Thomas; third words, "Woman, behold thy Son," Oliver Simons, Miss Margaret Jones and Arthur Thomas; fourth words, "O my Father, why hast Thou forsaken Me," Oliver Simons; fifth words, "I thirst," Oliver Simons; sixth words, "Father, into Thy keeping I commend My soul," Arthur Thomas; seventh words, "Once more I speak Jesus crying with a loud voice, it is finished," Mrs. Mabel Kemp Durst, Arthur Thomas and Oliver Simons.

Other members of the choir are Mrs. Esther Harvey, Misses Emily Wilson, Velma Richmond, Mary Lou Dunn, Olive Cook, Nell Raley, Nell Connor, Virginia Neff, Mrs. Nell Zellers, Mrs. Muriel Beckett, Messrs. William Yates, John Reed, Arthur Taylor, Walter Cook, William Zellers, William Baker, Pinkney Holmes, Herbert Griffith and Dr. J. A. Jump.

At 7:30 p. m., a drama, "The Way of Life," will be presented under direction of Mrs. J. Carter Shryock. The scene will be in the garden of Flavius, next door to the Upper Room in Jerusalem. The time will be Thursday of Passion Week and the cast of characters will be as follows:

Flavius, a young Roman soldier, Robert Crump; Flavia, his twin sister, Olive Cook; Octavia, an elder sister, Annetta Hamill; Rachel, a young sewing maid, Ruth Slemmon; Nicodemus, a member of the Sanhedrin, a Hebrew, Gordon Plummer; group of Hebrews, Martha Payne, Velma Richmond, Francis Plummer, Walter Lee Plummer.

The new curtain, recently made by the Ladies' Sewing Circle, will be used in this drama.

BOMB TOO DEADLY

Lester P. Barlow

Bomb designer for the Baltimore Glenn L. Martin plant, Lester P. Barlow told the Senate Military Affairs committee of an explosive so destructive that minutes of the session were burned to prevent the formula from falling into the hands of a foreign power. A combination of liquid oxygen and carbon, it is intended, he said, for use in mines. Barlow is shown with an aerial bomb he invented.

Lonaconing, March 15. — Holy Week services will begin Sunday, March 17, Palm Sunday, at the Methodist church, at 11 a. m., when Dr. Lawrence C. Little, Dean of the School of Religion, Western Maryland college, will be the guest minister.

Dr. Little is a graduate of Davidson University and Duke University, both in North Carolina, and holds a Ph. D. degree from Yale University. Dr. Little was secured to open the services here by the local churches minister, the Rev. Lewis F. Ransom.

Sunday evening, 7:30 o'clock, Dr. Harry Evald, District superintendent of Methodist churches, Hagerstown district, will be the guest minister.

The remaining five days of the week, services will be conducted at 7:30 p. m. Monday and Friday. The following ministers will have charge in order named. Monday, the Rev. Jesse P. Dawson, Grace Methodist church, Cumberland; Tuesday, the Rev. Edgar W. Beckett, First Methodist church, Frostburg; Wednesday, special prayer meeting with guest soloist, Edward Hunter, Frostburg, present; Thursday, Holy Communion, the Rev. Lewis F. Ransom; Friday, the Rev. Walter V. Simon, St. Paul's Lutheran church, Frostburg.

Sportsmen Meet

The Lonaconing Sportsmen Club met last night at 7:30 o'clock in the city council chamber, Railroad street. Officers for the ensuing year were elected. Business session was devoted to the forms in which the club could secure game. Following the business meeting, State Game Warden Joseph Minke told the local club members that all streams in Garrett county could be fished this year, but that bass could not be taken from any. He also stated that better sportsmanship was being displayed by hunters and fishermen.

Officers for the ensuing year were: President, Walter Green; vice-president, Lloyd Durst; treasurer, Wilson Bradley; secretary, Fred T. Bowden, Jr.; entertainment committee, Harold Boal, Dr. Gorman E. Getty and Robert Hamilton.

numbers by Miss Verlys Dixon and a group of her most advanced pupils.

Prof. J. Leo Delaney was the guest speaker Tuesday evening at the monthly business meeting of the Beall Hi-Y Girls. His subject was "Probability and Chance."

Frostburg Lodge, No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, will entertain its members with a turkey dinner Monday evening, at 6:30 o'clock, in the main lodge room on the second floor of the new Elk building. The turkeys were donated by a member of the lodge.

The committee in charge consists of Homer Griffith, chairman; Earl Wishour, Frank Ruffo, Joseph Montana and Clarence Rephan. Frank R. Keene will preside and addresses will be delivered by prominent Elks.

The Gleasons Sunday school class of First Methodist church was entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cook, Mechanic street. Mr. Cook showing technicolor pictures of views taken while he and Mrs. Cook were on a trip last fall to New York and the New England states.

Thomas G. Davis rendered violin solos accompanied by Miss Jean Ritter. Mrs. Joseph Downey and Mrs. John Reed led the devotions. Refreshments were served by Mesdames Howard Kinney, Ruth Todd, William B. Yates, Lloyd Stevens, John Cook and Thomas Elias.

Frostburg Personals

Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, 39 Water street, returned yesterday after spending several weeks at St. Petersburg, Miami Beach, Fla., and Havana, Cuba.

Enoch B. Prichard, seriously ill for the past week at his home, East Main street, was reported slightly improved today.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cecil, who reside near the Toll House on the National highway announce the birth of a son, Friday March 8. Mrs. Cecil is the former Miss Dolores Mae Smith of Long.
